NEED NOT FEAR POLICY SAYS INDIAN LEAD

ROAD URGED AS NECESSITY FOR ISLAND

Deputation Asks Government to Proceed With Construction of Ocean Highway From Victoria

TWO PETITIONS ARE PRESENTED

Ministers Show Sympathy to Project Commenced by Late Administration to Serve West Coast

THE request of the residents of the West Coast of Vancouver Island, backed up by the Chamber of Commerce, for the completion of the West Coast road by the Provincial Government, was laid before the Premier, Hon. S. F. Tolmie, and the Attorney-General, Hon. R. H. Pooley, yesterday afternoon, in the office of the Premier. A strong delegation from the Chamber of Commerce was present.

The actual presentation of the case was left to Mr. C. L. Harrison, who was backed up by petitions signed by the residents of the West Coast. Mr. Harrison presented the case as briefly as possible, as he said that he knew the members of the Government were busy, and were also fairly well advised along their lines which formed the basis of the request.

The Attorney-General said that he knew the territory along which it was proposed the road should be constructed. Dr. Tolmie said that he was most sympathetic towards the project which was put forward. He said that he realized the importance of the road, and also the importance of the reference made to the tourist traffic in the province. The whole of Canada was awakening to the importance of the tourist travel, as it affected the Dominion.

The Premier promised that as soon as the Minister of Public Works returned to the city he would take early opportunity of discussing this project with him. It was Hon. N. B. Loughheed's department, he said, that would have to consider the question in detail.

INTRODUCED TO PREMIER
The delegation was introduced to the Premier and Mr. Pooley by Mr. Reginald Hayward, M.P. for Victoria. Mr. James H. Beatty, another of the city members, was present.

Mr. P. B. Fowler, president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, briefly addressed the members of the Cabinet, and then called upon Mr. Harrison to present the case for the Chamber.

Mr. Harrison read a petition from residents about Clou-oose, signed by

Our "Sailor King" Called By Fate to Open Parley of Nations on Naval Problems

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Fate has called George V, Great Britain's "Sailor King," to open the Five-Power Naval Conference. Trained for the British Navy instead of for the Throne, the British Monarch probably could qualify for a post in the experts corps which will accompany the chief delegates to London, for from youth he planned a naval life and he had served fourteen years afloat and commanded his own ships before death called his elder brother, the Duke of Clarence, and turned his own career to higher and heavier responsibilities of Government.

The naval titles of King George are not merely honorary attributes of royal power. Before his illness last year he had the rugged body of an old seaman. In his time he has paced the decks of his own command, faced all the dangers of tempest and tide, manoeuvred with the fleet and brought his ship safely to port.

In his twelfth year the present King and his elder brother became naval cadets on the Britannia at Spithead, and step by step he rose on his merits as an officer during the fourteen years' service in all parts of the world.

HAS SEEN WORLD
After five years together the two brothers were separated, the older to prepare for kingship. Prince George stuck to the sea. Already he

French Navy Not To Suffer From Cruiser Sinking

PARIS, France, Jan. 10.—The loss of the 14,000-ton armored cruiser Edgar Quinet, which ran aground Saturday afternoon in the neighborhood of Cape Breton, near Oran, Algeria, and which, despite all rescue efforts, sank today, will not materially decrease the fighting capacity of the French navy.

Launched in 1907, the Edgar Quinet was an obsolete ship which was now being used as a training vessel for naval cadets. It was due to be replaced in two years by a specially designed training cruiser, the Jeanne d'Arc, now on the stocks.

LIKELY NOMINATIONS
But tomorrow morning the great bulk of the invited representatives will arrive, and with them the decision rests. With the course of action undecided, three names in the order mentioned, are most prominently mentioned for the leadership: Col. G. Y. Weaver, Edmonton; and Mr. John Irwin, Calgary. All three are members of the Legislature, and with Mr. McGillivray constituted the Conservative representation in the House last session. Sittings in the morning and afternoon will conclude the meetings. Discussions will be of the freest nature, it is announced, with part of the proceedings being held in camera. Another matter to be considered will be the amending of the constitution to give disciplinary powers to the central executive over the various associations.

PRESS CHIEF DIES
LONDON, Jan. 10 (G.P. Cable).—Sir Lawrence Weaver, director of the London Press Exchange, died today, aged fifty-three.

INDUSTRY OF BRITAIN MAY BE ASSISTED

Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas Announces That British Finance Will Get Behind Reorganization Plans

DEPRESSION HAS BECOME HANDICAP

Asks Industrialists to Make Effort to Rid Matter of Party Politics and Class Prejudices

MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan. 10.—The British Labor Government has sponsored a concerted effort for the rehabilitation of British economic life, and for the solution of the unemployment problem.

Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, declared that "for the first time the whole forces of British finance are prepared to stand behind British industry." In an important speech before the Manchester Chamber of Commerce this afternoon, the Labor Government has been spurred on to action by an increase in the figures of the unemployment, which has risen nearly half a million since the MacDonald ministry came into office.

NEED FOR CAPITAL

Mr. Thomas said that in his investigation of the unemployment and industrial problems he has found a feeling among manufacturers that they were handicapped in the necessary reorganization and re-equipment of their production plants, by the fact that the long continued trade depression which has pushed to the limit the credit which they can reasonably expect to obtain from their bankers, or which the bankers can reasonably be expected to provide.

Mr. Thomas said that an industry proposing a scheme for modernization and reorganization in order to compete with world prices "will receive most sympathetic consideration and co-operation from the city in working out plans and finding necessary finances."

CITY WILL HELP

"In cases of individual undertakings the city will be similarly ready to help, provided the scheme under discussion fits in as part of the general plans for the industry in question as a whole and given reasonable promise that the changes will enable the undertaking to become an effective unit in combination and co-operation with other similar undertakings."

Mr. Thomas declared that his

Five Likely To Fight in Brightside

SHEFFIELD, England, Jan. 10.—(G.P. Cable).—No fewer than five candidates may contest the Brightside, Sheffield, by-election necessitated by the elevation of Hon. Arthur Ponsonby, Labor member, to a peerage.

The executive of the Independent Labor Party has nominated Mr. John Paton as their candidate. The Communists have adopted one of the five candidates, and the Liberals have adopted Mr. W. A. Lambert.

In addition the Labor Party is expected to run Mr. W. Dobbin, former president of the National Union of Railway, and the Conservatives have already invited Mr. Homer Russell to run as Conservative candidate. Mr. Russell, former chairman of the Liberal executive severed his connections with the Liberal party a year ago.

Cigarette Stub Believed Cause Of Fatal Blaze

PORTLAND, Jan. 10.—One man was killed and three other persons escaped injuries in a fire which destroyed a rooming-house here today. Charles Welberg, sixty-three, was suffocated. Firemen stumbled over his body in the smoke-filled rooms. A towel over his head indicated he had endeavored to fight his way to safety. Authorities said they found a cigarette stub in Welberg's room.

THOUSANDS OF DEATHS FROM BITTER COLD

Reports From Northern China and Mongolia State That Death Toll From Exposure Is Immense

PACIFIC COAST STILL SHIVERS

Turning suddenly from weather which was suitable for robins and bluebirds, the Eastern seaboard today awoke to snowbirds cawing about the streets. The West, South-west, and upper reaches of the Pacific Coast continued to shiver. The Kansas City district reported thirteen deaths directly attributable to the season's worst blizzard.

MANY THOUSANDS DIE

In Mongolia and China deaths by the thousands were reported. The Russian district of Northern Shansi and Inner Mongolia estimated its dead at 15,000. Most of these were children or aged persons. An official estimate placed the total dead in the Far East at 30,000.

Southern California was snow-bound in places and hallstones fell at Redondo Beach. California proper was visited by the white flakes, as was Nevada.

Subzero temperatures were reported from the Southwest, and fruitgrowers in the Rio Grande Valley feared for their crops. Chicago, snowbound, returned its traffic arteries to normal only after a night of work in which every available man and piece of machinery shoveled snowdrifts. Promises of slightly warmer weather were made by the weather bureau. Snow already had stopped falling.

CONFERENCE ON SEAPLANE BASE LOCATION

City Council and Chamber Committees Decide to Invite Aviation Head to Interpret Regulations

ANOTHER MEETING ON MONDAY NEXT

Another conference on the location of the seaplane base for Victoria took place yesterday at the City Hall between Mayor Herbert Anson, members of the Industrial committee of the City Council and representatives of the port development committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

The meeting was held in Mayor Anson's office and was private. Following the party, Alderman William T. Straith, chairman of the city's industrial committee, on being asked what had taken place, stated that Colonel A. W. R. Wilby, agent for the Department of Marine, had read to the meeting the following air regulations:

Section 25 of the Air Regulations of 1920, with amendments to December 31, 1928.

"No water craft shall cross or go upon that part of the water area forming part of any seaplane station which it is necessary to keep clear of obstruction in order that flying machines may take off and alight in safety, having regard to the winds and weather conditions at the time, and every person in charge of a water craft is guilty of a breach

HONOR PAID TO EX-HEAD OF LEGION

Pro Patria Branch of Canadian Legion Bestows Life Membership on Sir Percy Lake

OCCASION TAKEN OF ANNUAL DINNER

Protest Lodged at Character of Some Recent Publications Regarding Life in the Trenches

COMRADESHIP of a high order was demonstrated at the sixth annual dinner of the Pro Patria Branch, Canadian Legion of the B.E.L. in the Chamber of Commerce dining-room last night, when more than three hundred comrades and guests sang songs of war-time days, listened to addresses by men who can talk as well as fight, and paid the highest honor they could bestow on a comrade, Sir Percy Lake, K.C.B., K.C.M.G., who was made a life member of the branch and presented with a membership badge of gold.

After the toast to The King had been proposed and honored and "O Canada" rendered, Chairman C. H. Gill called on Hon. J. Hinchliffe to propose "The Silent Toast." In doing so, the speaker recalled that he had proposed the self-same toast twelve months ago. Since that time some who were then present had departed. In realizing that all were growing nearer to those who had "gone West," he asked the gathering to "stand silently and reverently and drink the toast to our absent comrades, and then go from the meeting as the dead would expect us to go, returning to the duties of our lives, and carrying on for the good of our land and people."

Replying to the toast, "His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor," Hon. Randolph R. Bruce said in part: "Mr. President, may I congratulate this organization on its singularly happy name, the 'Pro Patria Branch,' a name which in itself is significant of service to the state. You are banded together, not for selfish purposes, not for individual aggrandizement, but for the advancement of all that is good in citizenship. You brought back with you that spirit of co-operation with which you ultimately won the war, and which finds expression today in the many branches of the Empire Service League. Stronger than ever through your ranks flows the ever-deepening current of sympathy for the less fortunate, for the widows, for the children and the orphans. For all of these you are performing

Skating Will Continue Over Coming Sunday

The promise of skating continuing over the week-end was practically assured by low temperatures continuing throughout yesterday. At 9 o'clock the mercury at Gonzales Observatory was down to twenty-six degrees, with the prospect of several more degrees of frost before daylight. The temperature ranged over six degrees yesterday, but remained below freezing point, being slightly lower at the warmest period of Thursday.

Cold weather continues general over the Prairies, and down the coast to California, and with sustained northerly and easterly winds, no immediate change is anticipated.

Programme Completed for Sea Music Festival to Be Held in City Next Week

Many of the celebrated artists who will appear in the festival have already arrived in Victoria in readiness for the opening day.

Wednesday's programme will commence with the overture, "Ave Maria Stella," followed by a group of sea songs by the Arion Male Choir, of Victoria; Ulysses Paquin, French-Canadian bass; in songs of the Breton corsairs, Gertrude Hunter, pianist; Alfred Heather, former tenor soloist at Westminster Abbey; the Victoria Dancers in hornpipe and pirate dances; Herbert Heyner, celebrated English ballad singer in songs of

MINERALS OF PEACE AWAIT DEVELOPMENT

Every Kind of Ore Known in Pre-Cambrian Belt Is Ready for Working, Says Colonel Cornwall

BUT RAILWAY IS GREAT ESSENTIAL

VANCOUVER, Jan. 10.—A great mineralized belt lying north of the Peace River country, which "contains every mineral that goes with pre-Cambrian rock," was pictured to the Vancouver "On-to-the-Peace" Association here today by Colonel J. K. Cornwall, an authority on the North.

"Five years will be ample to achieve splendid results in the development of this great mineralized belt once rail transportation is provided between the Mackenzie River basin and the Pacific Coast," Colonel Cornwall said.

DEPOSITS ARE KNOWN

"Many of the deposits of gold, silver, lead and coal are known and only await the coming of cheap transportation to return rich profits. 'We shall never again see a trek like that of the pioneers into Peace River in recent years,' the audience was told. 'It will never come again. And those pioneers are the savior of the earth. They never took a nickel from anybody. Up there we can establish a new civilization. It is the last free land left to English-speaking people. In this case, the last is the best.'"

"Direct rail outlet to the Pacific Coast is absolutely essential to the destiny of that great country," Colonel Cornwall said.

Both the Utah-Mine-Mining Company and the Utah-Mine-Mining Company will continue to mine copper ore which they are relatively small producers of.

Nationalist Leader of India Explains His Policy of Independence and Dominion Status

WANTS ISSUE TO BE QUITE CLEAR

Declares Independence Demand Need Not Frighten or Offend Anybody in Connection With India

By MAHATMA M. K. GANDHI
Recognized leader of the movement for the independence of India. Exclusive cable dispatch to The Colonist and the North American Newspaper Alliance.

(Copyright, 1930, all countries.)

AHMEDABAD, India, Jan. 10.—"The world should realize that, as congress representatives, Pandit Motilal Nehru, leader of the Nationalists in the Legislative Assembly, and I could only treat the viceregal pronouncement about Dominion status in India as a response to the Calcutta Congress resolution of 1928. We were bound, therefore, in pursuance of that resolution, to press for a clear declaration that the proposed round table conference would consider only ways and means of framing a scheme for a Dominion status constitution and no other."

This the Viceroy (Lord Irwin) could not do. While, therefore, we appreciated his good efforts and his difficulties, we had no course left open but to decline to have Congress represented at the proposed conference. The conference, so far as Congress was concerned, having miscarried, the independence resolution was inevitable.

NEED FRIGHTEN NOBODY

But the independence resolution need frighten nobody. I had been declared that for some, as all other congressmen, Dominion status could mean only virtual dependence; that is, partnership.

Samoa Native Troubles Now Appear Ended

APIA, Samoa, Jan. 10 (G.P. cable, via Reuters).—The fifty-eight members of the League of Native Home Rule of Samoa, ordered to appear before the Administrator as a result of the recent disturbances, in which a policeman and eight natives were killed, have sent a letter giving certain reasons for not appearing.

The situation, however, has become quiet with the Kaiser Dunedin, of the New Zealand Navy, en route to maintain order if called upon.

Adherents of the Home Rule League have entirely abandoned the districts of Paigaita and Pongia, in accordance with instructions that non-residents of the various districts should return to their homes. An assemblage is reported, however, at Leaviva and Solosolo. No Māori uniforms—Home Rule League—were seen in Apia today.

MR. GANDHI TELLS WHAT HE DESIRES

will for mutual benefit and to be dissolved at the instance of either party. It is also the meaning of Dominion status as mentioned in the viceregal pronouncement, the Congress resolution for independence need not offend anyone. It only clears the issue, especially after the Secretary of State for India Wedgwood Benn's unfortunate statement that India already had a Dominion status in action.

The real cause for satisfaction to lovers of peace consists in the fact that through the full debate Congress supported methods of non-violence and truth to the exclusion of other methods.

CIVIL DISOBEDIENCE

Civil disobedience is a dynamic expression of nonviolence and truth; it is undoubtedly fraught with great danger and difficulties, but infinitely less so than the present danger of unbridled but secret violence breaking out in many parts of India owing to an understandable and pardonable impatience on the part of many youths.

Responsibility for initiating civil disobedience rests on me, and I am not likely rashly to embark upon it. At the same time I must confess that I shall not hesitate to run a certain minimum of risk, which is inevitable in any struggle for freedom. The risk for prolonging the present agony caused by the realized slavery here is any day much greater than I am ever likely to run.

The boycott of legislatures is also part of the programme for enforcing the natural corollary to the independence resolution, and I am glad to say it is finding an adequate response from congressmen. A constructive programme—such as removal of untouchability, communal union, liquor prohibition, and the boycott of foreign cloth—remains. These have tremendous social and economic value and also bear great political consequences. The Hindu constitution, with its tentative communal solution, naturally lapses.

DOOR LEFT OPEN

Congress will, therefore, concentrate on solving the communal question, not on differential lines, but on strictly national lines. An important resolution to that effect was passed at Congress.

There was also a resolution on financial obligations. It need not disturb any foreigner who has a legitimate interest in India. It should be remembered that there are always under any government obligations incurred and conceded by the government. It is not granted that there are in any way in the interest of the country concerned. These can never be acknowledged by successors, who are free to examine all such obligations and concessions.

Congress has offered investigation of these by an independent tribunal. Lastly, the door against a conference purposely convened to satisfy national aspirations—that is, to frame a scheme of independence—has been left open.

I cannot conclude this message without testifying that our young president, Mr. Nehru, Jr., son of the Nationalist Legislative leader, has surpassed all expectations. His address, if it was extreme in conception, was moderate in expression. His conduct in the chair commanded admiration even of sceptics. His inexhaustible energy enabled him to close the session, which, but for him, might have been unduly prolonged.

MAY HOLD BALANCE

Mahatma Gandhi, for many years recognized leader of the movement for the independence of India, in the above statement presents his views on the present situation in India.

Today—less than a fortnight after the All-India National Congress, assembled at Lahore, made its memorable decision to demand independence—the position of India may be summed up by saying that India is now waiting to see what will happen. No one can now predict what the extreme Left or Revolutionary party will do. As regards the Right party, it is safe to say that wholesale ready day re-Indian Legislatures, advocated by the extremists, will not take place.

Mahatma Gandhi's party occupies a central position between the wings and will certainly turn the scales to whichever side it throws its weight.

Doukhobors To Be Released Next Month

The 105 Doukhobors who are serving six months in Oakalla jail, following conviction for taking part in a nude parade in South Slokan, will be released next month. Already arrangements have been made by the Provincial Attorney-General's Department for their return to their homes. The Doukhobors will be released in batches and taken care of by their compatriots who will insure their return to the South Slokan district.

The fear entertained by Alderman W. C. Albertson, of Vancouver, who is chairman of the civic relief committee there, that the Doukhobors will become a charge on the city is groundless in view of action already taken by the Attorney-General's Department.

HONOR PAID TO EX-HEAD OF LEGION

noble work. What greater honor belongs to an organization performing such splendid and patriotic service?

This is a red letter day in the history of the Pro Patria Branch, for we are gathered to do honor to one of your distinguished members, Lieutenant-General Sir Percy Lake.

K.C.B., K.C.M.G., prolonged applause, a great soldier and a great humanitarian, one who has been allowed in the footsteps of his late comrade, Field Marshal the Right Honorable Earl Haig, like that illustrious soldier, he has been weary in his efforts towards the rehabilitation of the abled, the protection of the helpless and the children. Freely he has given of his talents for organizing which years ago won him distinction through the Empire, honors from His Majesty the King, and the Canadian Militia, the highest command in India and fresh laurels in the Great War. Well might he be proud to belong to the Legion, his achievements, but instead we find him devoting himself heart and soul to the betterment of his comrades-in-arms, standing shoulder to shoulder with them and lending his ripe experience to their cause.

"At no time was there a greater necessity for ex-service men of all ranks to show their strength and talents to you, to help themselves together so as to form a strong virile force, helping to guard and guide the destinies of the Empire, and to help the young men to rest on his achievements, but instead we find him devoting himself heart and soul to the betterment of his comrades-in-arms, standing shoulder to shoulder with them and lending his ripe experience to their cause.

had visited South America, South Africa, Australia, the Fiji Islands, Japan, Ceylon, Egypt, Palestine and Greece. Appointed to H.M.C. Canada on the North American and West Indies station, Prince George became a sublieutenant.

Upon his return to England he passed through the Royal Naval College at Greenwich and the gunnery and torpedo schools. In 1885 he was promoted to lieutenant and served on H.M.S. Thunder, Drednought and Alexandria in the Mediterranean Squadron.

GAINED HIS COMMAND

In 1889 he was put in command of the gunboat Thrush for service in the North American and West Indian Station. Two years later saw another promotion to commander of H.M.S. Melampus. This command he relinquished on the death of his brother. Duties as eventual heir to the British Crown precluded continuous life at sea. In subsequent years he was promoted to captain, rear admiral and vice-admiral because of his royal position, but the lower ranks he earned on his merit as a sailor and naval officer.

Alone among monarchs and presidents, His Majesty the King is a trained service man. From his Palace at Buckingham he will watch the proceedings of the naval negotiations in London with full knowledge and understanding of what is happening.

Always been of the best, but the majority of them were good. The Britisher was loth to touch his horn, but it was time he was doing it a bit. Everybody seemed to be out at present with the object of disrupting the British Empire. He had been glad to hear Father Wood speak as he did. "We don't want war, but we'll go if it is necessary. Competitively in the army, the same as in every line of business, was now very keen, and there was no place in it for mediocrity. The air fleet was in fine shape and Britain can put twenty squadrons in the air and no other country can do that at present. Individuals of other countries may sometimes surpass us for the time being," he concluded, "but a hundred Britishers will make good as a body anywhere."

"You are all aware that there will shortly be an important conference in the capital of the Empire with the glorious objective of securing the future peace of nations. Let us hope that this conference will meet with unqualified success and that your sons will never have to undergo the horrors of war, while the members of this organization endured with such fortitude, and which were only made endurable by the hope within you that never again would such a calamity be thrust upon mankind."

TRIBUTE TO SIR PERCY LAKE

The chairman said Sir Percy Lake had paid the very compliments to Sir Percy Lake that he had intended to convey. He must give Sir Percy Lake credit for bringing the Canadian Legion to its present high position. He hoped that he would live long and be a comrade to them all. With the concurrence of the Dominion Command, Pro Patria was about to bestow a life membership on the general, and hoped he would live long to enjoy the rest of a room. Thus began the Returned Soldiers' Organization, for the purpose of taking care of the men coming home, Canada could not look after them at that time, the effort all being to the end that men be sent overseas.

This organization, delegates having been sent East last year, resulted in the Great War Veterans' Association at Winnipeg. Out of this latter organization others sprang into existence, the names of which need not be mentioned. In 1921 the Amalgamated Veterans met and organized, and out of this organization was derived the first branch in Western Canada of the Canadian Legion. There are other strong returned men's organizations throughout Canada, and we must work with them in the proper spirit. The talk about the deterioration of the Empire was tomyr rot. If there was any truth in such assertions, it would not be possible to attend such gatherings as this.

Sir Percy Lake replied to this latter toast, and the final toast, "Our Guests," was proposed by Mr. J. Bowll and responded to by Mr. J. Jones, president of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association.

During the evening songs were rendered by Messrs. T. Rhoades, W. J. Cobbett and J. Jackman, a monologue by Mr. J. C. Sparks and a musical selection by Messrs. T. Bartsch and W. K. Neppros. The accompanist was Mr. J. F. Fidler. The committee for the dinner consisted of Messrs. C. A. Gill, chairman; W. J. Cobbett, F. J. Waterman, E. Waterman, J. R. Williams and H. P. Thorpe, secretary.

AIDED BY FAMINE

PEKING, China, Jan. 10.—Half of China for days has been experiencing the severest cold in sixty years with the dead numbering thousands and with tens of thousands suffering from lack of shelter.

Undernourished people in the districts where famine had followed crop failures this Summer, were hard hit and many died in the hovels into which they crawled in search of warmth. The greatest mortality from the wintry blasts was in the Suiyuan district of Northern Shanhsi and Inner Mongolia, where it was estimated that 15,000 undernourished persons, most of them aged and children were dead from exposure.

In the town of Pengchen 2,500 were frozen to death; in Sahalen, 2,000 died, while in Paotow 800 succumbed to the cold.

FIGHT OVER OAK BAY BUS LINE BEGINS

B.C.E.R. in Supreme Court Makes Preliminary Application in Action Seeking to Quash By-Laws

HEARING APPOINTED FOR NEXT THURSDAY

Company States It Desires to Operate Bus Line Also—By-Laws Held to Exceed Power of Council

The British Columbia Electric Railway Company, operating the street railway system in Greater Victoria, instituted legal action in the Supreme Court yesterday before Mr. Justice Gregory, with a view to terminating what is alleged to be an "exclusive franchise" granted by certain city by-laws to the buses of the Blue Line.

Application was made for an order by the court calling upon the municipality of Oak Bay to show cause why By-Law No. 584 should not be quashed for illegality, and a second application similarly worded was made for a like order with regard to By-Law 589. The applications were presented by Mr. H. G. S. Heisterman, who appeared for the company. Thursday next was set by the court for the hearing.

An affidavit by Mr. A. T. Goward, accompanying the applications, sets forth that the British Columbia Electric Railway Company is desirous of itself operating a line of motor vehicles for passengers from the city of Victoria to Oak Bay, as a feeder to its street railway system and for the convenience of persons residing in Oak Bay. Also that the effect of the by-law would be to prevent the company, or any persons other than the Veterans' Sightseeing Transportation Company, the owners of the Blue Line buses, from operating a line of motor vehicles in the municipality of Oak Bay, because "if such line were not permitted to ply on any of the streets mentioned in Clause 3 of the said by-law, 584, it would be impossible to operate the same with any chance of financial success."

BY-LAW ATTACKED
Some of the chief grounds upon which the formal applications base the contention that the by-law is invalid are that the by-law is discriminatory and prejudicially affects the rights of the street railway company; that it bestows a privilege upon a particular person, contrary to the Municipal Act; that it undertakes to grant a perpetual and exclusive franchise, something that is assumed to be beyond the power of the municipal council.

Clauses in the application setting forth these or other grounds for holding By-Law 584 to be void are as follows:
"(a) That the said by-law does not purport to prohibit all motor vehicles, but from plying for hire, of such vehicles to ply for hire to the exclusion of others.

EXCLUSION ALLEGED
"(b) That the said by-law does not license or regulate all such motor vehicles, but on the contrary purports to confer upon some only of such motor vehicles the right to apply for licences to ply for hire and carry passengers, to the exclusion of such other motor vehicles.

"(c) That the said by-law confers a particular privilege or bestows a particular franchise, or privilege upon a particular person, contrary to the provisions of Section 169 of the Municipal Act.

"(d) That the said by-law grants perpetual licences to certain motor vehicles therein described to the exclusion of all other motor vehicles.

"(e) That the said by-law particularly motor vehicles therein distinguished separately instead of as a class or classes.

POWERS OF COUNCIL
"(f) That the said by-law confers upon motor vehicles therein described the right to operate exclusively upon highways in the municipality.

Why Mothers Grow Old

city, whereas there is no such power in the municipal council.
"(g) That the said by-law wrongly prevents the operation of motor vehicles in the municipality other than those mentioned in the by-law, and prohibits other motor vehicles from the right to obtain licences therefor.
"(h) That the applicant is a carrier operating a street railway within the limits of the municipality and in adjoining municipalities and is desirous of operating in conjunction therewith, such motor vehicles within the municipality; and that the by-law is ultra vires in that, whilst it purports to authorize the licensing and regulating of all such motor vehicles it in fact seeks to prohibit and does prohibit the applicant from obtaining the necessary licences to operate such motor vehicles or to obtain licences therefor.

DISCRIMINATION ALLEGED
"(i) (1) (k) That said by-law by reason of the matters aforesaid is uncertain and void... is unfair and unreasonable... is discriminatory and prejudicially affects the rights of the applicant.
"(l) That the said by-law, whilst purporting to license and regulate, as a matter of fact confers an exclusive right to operate such motor vehicles for the carrying of passengers within the municipality.

"(m) That the particular motor vehicles mentioned in the by-law belong to and are the property of one owner, and the effect of the said by-law is to give to the owner of the said motor vehicles an exclusive franchise to ply for hire in the said municipality, contrary to the provisions of Section 169 of the Municipal Act.
"(n) That the by-law purports to confer upon particular vehicles mentioned in the by-law a perpetual licence for their operation to the exclusion of all other such motor vehicles beyond the jurisdiction of the municipal council.
The application with regard to By-Law 589 is stated in similar terms.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—The existing commercial representation of the Mother Country in Canada will be strengthened, Right Honorable J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal and Minister of Employment, announced today in addressing a luncheon of the Manchester Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Thomas discussed the subject of trade in relation to unemployment problems.
The Labor Government had decided to revive British commercial diplomatic posts in Colombia, Brazil, Argentina, Persia, and Switzerland, and to send trade missions to various other countries. ## TIMBER SALE IS MOST EXTENSIVE

Will Necessitate Construction of Two Paper Mills, Each of 500 Tons Daily Capacity

PORTLAND, Jan. 10.—Mr. B. P. Heintzleman, assistant district forester for Alaska, en route to San Francisco, today outlined plans for the sale of 10,000,000,000 board feet of spruce and hemlock timber in Alaska to the Zellerbach Corporation and The San Francisco Examiner and Los Angeles Times.
The deal, which the district forester said was the largest in the history of the Government forestry service, includes the establishment of newsprint mills and the cutting of timber on a fifty-year programme under the reforestation system.

Mr. Heintzleman, who is en route to Washington, D.C., to complete final details, said one of the mills would be located near Ketchikan, and another near Juneau. Both would have a daily capacity of 500 tons, he said.

UNIVERSITY EXPENDITURES

When the University of British Columbia was projected certain lands were set aside to provide an endowment fund. This policy was adopted when the McBride Government was in power. A change of policy affecting the endowment took place under the late Liberal Administration whereby previous reserves on land for university purposes were canceled and the Point Grey properties substituted. It was agreed that a programme of improvements to the latter properties should be undertaken which included subdivision, roads, schools and other facilities. This has been carried out in part. Many lots in the university endowment lands have been sold. The Government is securing an annual revenue from these lands, revenue which, presumably, will increase with the years.

Under both policies of endowment for the University of British Columbia the promise was held out that eventually that institution would not be a burden to the taxpayers. In other words, the hope was that sufficient funds would be derived from the endowment lands to meet both capital and maintenance charges at the university. So far this has not been the case. To date the university has cost the people of British Columbia a sum in the neighborhood of $11,000,000 and there is no relief in sight as a result of receipts from the endowment. In view of promises made over and over again of what the endowment would accomplish it is full time that the Government had a statement prepared showing the taxpayers exactly where they stand in university expenditures. No one believes now that the endowment will ever recoup the taxpayers for the expenditures already laid out on the university. There is no hope either that endowment receipts will meet maintenance, or any new capital charges of the future.

The point is, what may the taxpayers expect from the endowment? What is the amount of the endowment fund at the present time? What sum, if any, has it already contributed to university costs? What is the progressive relief to taxpayers that may be expected from the fund in the future? The Board of Governors of the University is to present estimates to the Government shortly for the fiscal year of 1930-1931. There is a great deal of information regarding university expenditures and the administration of the endowment lands to which the taxpayers are entitled at the time. The university is a public institution and a close corporation. Its Board of Governors is responsible to the Government, and the Government in turn is responsible to the people. The university was projected on the understanding that the endowment lands would eventually take care of expenditures connected with the venture. Instead of this proving to be the case the taxpayers have had to foot a bill of $11,000,000. They are without any knowledge or assurance as to what portion of this money, if any, will be returned to the provincial exchequer. How much longer are they to be kept in the dark about circumstances regarding which they have every right to be informed?

THE INEQUALITY OF "PARITY"

In 1914 the personnel of the American Navy was 67,258. Last year the number had risen to 114,500. During the same period Great Britain reduced the personnel of the Royal Navy from 146,047 to 99,800. The increase in the naval expenditure of the United States between 1927-1928 and 1929-1930 has been $118,250,000, whereas Great Britain in that time has effected a reduction in expenditure of $22,600,000. Parity, as envisaged by Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, evidently means disparity from the standpoint of Great Britain. It cannot mean parity in tonnage, gunpower and personnel, for in the latter particular the United States is ahead of Great Britain, and the question of personnel, although raised in connection with the Washington Naval Limitations Treaty, which applied particularly to capital ships, does not seem to enter into the discussions projected for the forthcoming Five-Power Naval Conference.

There is no indication from any source that the United States contemplates a reduction in her naval personnel so as to put it on a parity with the personnel of the British Navy. On the other hand, American naval policy is proposing an increase in this personnel, and already it is over-stuffed with officers which means that an expansion is all the easier. The apostles of the gospel of parity, and especially those who are anxious to reduce the power and prestige of the British Navy, overlook many important considerations. They overlook discrepancies in personnel which place Great Britain at a disadvantage. They ignore strategic requirements. They do not consider sufficiently the vital need of Great Britain for protection for her food supplies, nor do they take into consideration the respective merchant ship tonnage of the two powers which it is hoped to place on a naval "parity." The Navy, which is the "sure shield of Empire," is being made a chattel to bargain with in the international shop of politics. Defence and politics are poor bedfellows as the successors of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald will have cause to learn in the years that lie ahead.

MINISTERIAL SALARIES

In Britain the Labor Government is seeking to secure increased salaries for its Cabinet Ministers. As a preliminary the leaders of the Conservative and Liberal parties are to be consulted, so that, if possible, when the matter comes up in Parliament, opposition will be discounted. In other words the free expression of opinion by the elected representatives of the people will be stifled in advance by party arrangement. The safeguard exercised by the House of Commons on public expenditures, the most rigid safeguard of all in the past, has become largely illusory as democracy has broadened down from precedent to precedent. Government by caucus and by compromise has replaced the responsibility which hitherto was regarded as a prescriptive right of the Commons. The single party machine of a Government decides what expenditures shall be, and, for the purpose of maintaining party union, irrespective of what is best for the country, the taxpayers must bear the burden. This, of course, in essence, is a negation of democracy which is being made the plaything of party politics.

In the matter of increased ministerial salaries there is a desire on the part of the Labor Government to have a semblance of unanimity on the subject. In other words, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and his Ministers want a preliminary alliance with other political parties so as to avoid any effective opposition arising in the House of Commons. The sense of the House of Commons on the subject is to be decided in advance of discussion in assembly. In other words, secret diplomacy is the policy being pursued, and when the matter comes up for decision freedom of speech at Westminster will be proportionately stifled by a decision reached by party leadership in advance. Party discipline is necessary to party success but there are some subjects of public interest which it would appear unnecessary to tie to the chariot wheels of party desire.

FRANCE AND DISARMAMENT

The attitude of France in entering the Five-Power Naval Conference to discuss reductions in naval strength is now well known. It has been restated, lest there should be confusion in any minds. France insists that disarmament, if any such measure is contemplated, must be negotiated through the League of Nations, and that land, sea and air armaments are mutually dependent. France will take the standpoint in London that she must fix her own standard of naval needs. In other words, France is assuming the strategy in peace times that she and any other Naval Limitations Treaty must go by the board when the life of a country is threatened by hostile forces. That is the weakness of such treaties, or arrangements, because they are operative only when there are no danger clouds on the horizon. The peculiar thing about disarmament proposals is that where treaties are negotiated they are always concerned with naval reductions. Why? The reason is obvious. There is a desire by one or more foreign Powers to reduce the efficiency and prestige of Britain's Navy. Britain, if she follows the doctrine of self respect and self defence, can take a leaf out of the naval book of France and endorse the policy that her naval strength must be dictated by her naval needs.

Pravda, which is the official organ of the Russian Communist Party, gives notice of a campaign of propaganda in Great Britain in the interests of Communism. The next few months are to be spent in increased agitation amongst the miners preparing them for the "battle" in April when the reduction in working hours becomes effective. Then, it says, "the question of wages must be brought forward to revive the fighting spirit of 1926 so as to deal a blow to 'capital and the capitalist'—the Labor Government." This agitation is to go on irrespective of any undertaking the Soviet Government may give to put an end to propaganda within the British realm.

CANADA AND U.S.A.

Mr. Mackenzie King's suggestion that the methods and organization responsible for the amicable relations between Canada and the United States might be taken as a model for the adjustment of differences throughout the world, is a good one, if endurance and success be taken as qualifications for such a model. It is an unfortunate fact that the British people as individuals take very little interest in the history of the Empire of which they are collectively so proud. How many professed students of history even, other than the small number of students of the history of the British Empire, have heard of the Rush-Bagot agreement of 1918, which Mr. Mackenzie King commends—Madras Mail.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

The British political pot is swinging over a hot fire; it is bubbling furiously, and very soon a pretty kettle of fish will be set before the people of the distressed country. We read of great deal of the dictatorships which have been set up in Italy and Spain and have been told much more about the impossibility of setting up dictatorships in the highly favored lands where all the people rule and democracy is triumphant. We are beginning to hear something about a proposal for the establishment of a dictatorship in the home of the Mother of Parliaments, where democracy was born and went forth to enlighten the political world.

Things have been going from bad to worse in Britain lately. The Socialist Government which prefers to be called a Labor Government is said to have achieved a couple of brilliant successes in foreign affairs, but it has proved a lamentable failure in domestic affairs; and the political elements behind the Labor Government are but little interested in either foreign or Imperial affairs. The MacDonald Government was pledged to remove the evil of unemployment. When it was sworn into office there were about a million people who were out of employment. At the present time there are nearly a million and a half of people either unemployed or unemployable.

This lamentable condition of affairs may be attributed to two causes. The policy of the Government has discouraged business and strangled industry. The policy of the Government placed a premium on idleness by increasing the amount and the scope of the dole. One defence of the dole system is that it is not a tax in the ordinary sense of the term. It is a tax in the triple sense of the term. It exacts contributions from three sources—first, from the ordinary taxpayer, from the industrial worker and from industries in which the industrial worker is employed.

The best exposition of the worst political situation was given recently by Mr. Winston Churchill, a master of the spoken and the written word. "What were we doing?" The Government has already spent £8,000,000 more in the few months they have been in office and had committed us to £20,000,000 of expenditure next year. And all this money went, not for social betterment, industrial reorganization, or for the revival of trade and industry; it simply went in doles. In fact, as the Prime Minister warned his party, they were becoming solely a party of public relief.

That is a picture of the domestic situation, and the picture of the Imperial situation is even more disquieting. Clearly something must be done about it. And the noble lords of the British press are going to do something about it—if they can. A majority of the newspapers of Britain are controlled by three noble lords, one a noble lord of Canadian origin, another a noble lord of Irish origin, and another a noble lord of United States origin. The noble lord of Irish origin has nominated the noble lord of Canadian origin as leader of the party which will save England and the Empire from disruption and ruin. The noble lord of Canadian origin has blushing accepted the big job. Lord Beaverbrook is willing to accept the position of Prime Minister, with or without the consent of the Three Tailors of Tooty Street or the people of England.

But the noble lords and dictators of the press are not in complete agreement on this matter of the salvation of England and the Empire. The noble lord of United States origin says that is not the way of political salvation. Mr. J. L. Garvin, who conducts The London Sunday Observer for Lord Astor, is also among the press dictators, and stands shoulder high above his contemporaries as Saul did among the prophets. Mr. Garvin has nominated Mr. David Lloyd George for the job of saving England and the Empire. He says the Conservative party did his advice when opportunity came knocking at its door. Now it must suffer the consequences of its obduracy.

So the Canadian saviour and the Irish saviour have been thrust aside and a Welsh saviour substituted for them. Mr. George has been nominated for a position in the Labor Government, and he is going to take the Liberal Party (which, as Mr. Toole used to say, is of no consequence whatever) over the way with him and mix it up with the Labor party, and nobody will know the difference between the two after they have been properly shuffled and mixed. If that is not a consummation most devoutly to be wished, it is a consummation that will not be unexpected. Besides being a master of political tricks and artifices, the Little Welshman has demonstrated that he knows how to handle complicated situations. If he joins the Labor Government he will soon be the leader of a composition.

site Liberal and Labor Government. Then the pretty kettle of fish will become a dainty dish for the entertainment and satisfaction of the British people.

SKATING AT BEAVER LAKE

Sir—As people who do not know me personally might conclude, on reading an article in The Times of today's date, that I would be capable of putting business interests before the safety of human life, I wish to make the following statements: One—I did not give any person information to the effect that Beaver Lake is safe for the general public to skate on. There is about two inches of ice, which is insufficient for large numbers of people. Last year, when skating had been general on Elk Lake, and there was eight inches of solid black ice on the lake, people were repeatedly advised by the newspapers that the lake was dangerous.

Why should it be announced now that Beaver Lake is safe for all comers, with only two inches of ice? The day before the fatal drowning last year, I sent a warning to the evening paper about dangerous holes, hard to distinguish at night, which had been published. These should be carefully avoided this year. Two—The same article says that another day or two of frost will make Elk Lake safe for skating. I present it is absolutely free from ice, and could not possibly be safe for ten days, probably not then. Three—I will gladly give reliable information as to the thickness of the ice to either the press or the public over the phone at any time, but the article in The Times mentioning my name is a complete misunderstanding, and refers to a small pond near the lake.

FOREIGNERS IN CANADA

Sir—In his letter of January 7 Mr. Bourne accuses me of "either wilfully trying to mislead the public or not being able to read the King's English," when I use the word "foreigner" where he uses "immigrant" in his previous letter of December 28. I would assure Mr. Bourne that such is not the case, for if he will again read his former letter he will note it is headed "Foreigners in Canada" and that no reference whatever is made in it to the "British" immigrant, so he can be sure when readers assume that he is speaking of the foreigner when he uses the word immigrant?

Mr. Bourne states that while 3,500,000 French-Canadians sent only 18,000 overseas, the other native-born Canadians did little better. The 1921 census shows approximately 2,500,000 French-Canadians, the total population of Canada being about 8,800,000. Therefore the proportion of French-Canadian emigration to the total population was one in 139, while with the remaining population the proportion of native-born enlistments was one in twenty-three. Surely a vast difference. Mr. Editor, in other words, had the French-Canadians done as well as our other native-born, the Canadian-born in the C.E.F. would have totalled 380,000 instead of 287,000.

I quite agree with Mr. Bourne that our race is "a mixture of Norman, Scandinavian, German, etc.," and that "the British" is the result of the success of the race. Had these people refused to "mix" would the British Empire have been what it is today?

And that is why we ask that only those who are willing to become one of us shall be admitted into Canada. We do not adopt any "holier than thou" attitude, nor do we expect special favors because we are native-born. All we do expect is an equal chance with the immigrant in the land of our birth. The immigrant has proven himself quite as capable as the native son in seeking positions in the Government service.

Little of Mr. Bourne's letter in today's issue dealt with the subject originally under discussion, viz., "Foreigners in Canada," so I am also pleased to end the correspondence on this subject.

VISCOUNT MELVILLE EXPLAINS

Sir—I have read an article in your paper on the Honorable Richard Dundas (Nov. 24, 1929). It contains many inaccuracies, and the account is somewhat embroidered. I do not exactly know what you mean by the words "traditional life." It implies that it is usual for the younger sons to lose. That custom does not exist in the Old Country. When my brother went to Canada there was no thought of my father succeeding to the titles and estates, as my uncle died without male issue. My brother succeeded long years after my father's departure for Canada—therefore my brother knows nothing about the "comforts of an ancestral estate." (As far as I am concerned such comforts are in the shape of an empty castle, all furniture having gone before I could get a look-in and the asking price of £40,000 a year and paying out £5,000.) The fellow who did get something out of Melville was my brother. I got worse than nothing.

It is quite true that our family is a very old one. It heads the list of old families and goes back to 858—the only one British family that can produce a record by means of documents. My brother, Charles, is not Governor of the Bahamas. He is in a high position there.

Mrs. Whitaker of London sounds amusing. Sir, is Mrs. Whitaker of Pylewell Park, Lymington. My brother's birthplace is Santa Cruz in Tenerife, Canaries. He went to a German school and then to King's School, Canterbury. I can not imagine how he could have attended the other schools you mention.

He gave up a castle for a pebble shack? Is surely somewhat fanciful. The castle never was his and he never had an opportunity of exchanging it for anything. As far as my brothers are concerned they certainly got the best of the bargain. Melville has been CARLSBAD Cavern, in New Mexico, is one of America's newest wonders. It came to national attention in 1924. so pillaged that I can not even steal anything out of it. I would if I could. You are under the impression that Melville Castle is a jolly fine show. Come over and see for yourself. An empty castle and an empty cash box are a perpetual blower on the back. You had better send over some rich Canadians to buy the castle and estates from me, and after I have got hold of the money I might consider coming over to see that shack you talk about. I enjoy such a fine income that you can hardly see it.

BEACON HILL PARK

Sir—It has been stated in the public press that the City Engineer and Park Superintendent have been appointed to plan out the scheme for the development of Beacon Hill Park. Now, while in no manner questioning the capabilities of these gentlemen for the task imposed on them, it is quite obvious that the magnitude of the question is not recognized by the city authorities.

The rehabilitation of the park in general involves the question of the waterfront from Ogden Point to Ross Bay and the management of the park generally. It will thus be easily recognized that a scheme should be evolved for the guidance of the present and future councils by some competent authorities requiring the combined knowledge of civil engineering, scenic gardening and architecture. A scheme which would meet the requirements of the park would naturally involve the expenditure of a large sum of money and could not be accomplished in a short period, but would have to be spread over a number of years for the guidance of the present and future councils. Such a scheme would remove the power from the temporary park committees to destroy, at their will, the natural beauties of the park, as has been done in the past.

Contract Bridge

By the Bridge Correspondent of The London Times

The Portland, after conference with representatives of other London clubs, has issued its new code of laws for the game of contract bridge, and is doing so to explain that it has kept two chief ends in view—namely, first "to follow the American code faithfully so far as scoring is concerned" and, second, "to follow the British code in the English laws of auction bridge except those essential to fit the different game." Both these objects have the sympathy of most bridge players.

The present English laws of auction, as revised to March 1, 1928, have given general satisfaction. In drafting and phrasing they are a great improvement on the older code; and that they are vastly superior in form to the corresponding American laws is not disputable—not, at least, by any Englishman. But the substance of the game, however, it was proper, as a matter of courtesy and principle, to adapt it as closely as possible to the American precedent. Contract bridge is not an American invention; but the game which is now being so widely experimented with in England, differing both from the old "contract" and from the Continental game (whether the players there happen to call it contract or plafond), was given its shape in the United States and came from there to us. A consideration, however, which was probably even more influential with the card committee of the Portland Club is that there is a reasonable hope of arranging in the not distant future for an international conference with a view to bringing the bridge laws of the two countries, whether of contract or auction, into uniformity. It is an end greatly to be desired; but there are obvious difficulties. Meanwhile the extremely conciliatory spirit in which these laws have been drawn should go some distance towards paving the way to a rapprochement.

The American scoring, for example, has been adopted en bloc, even so accepting the eccentric scale of penalties for undertricks, the most satisfactory explanation of which yet given seems to be that it was the result of a misprint: when the American laws were first promulgated. What the conference plainly did not feel equal to swallowing was the American penalty for a revoke, and this is always likely to be one of the chief obstacles to entire uniformity between the games of the two countries. It is not to be thought of that we should ever adopt the deplorable sections (laws 40 to 44 inclusive) of the American code which deal with "retroucing" and "re-voking." The Portland Club has, in effect, retained the present English auction law, merely substituting the figure 250 for 300. Many players feel, and will continue to feel, that, whether at auction or contract, the penalty is in some cases too heavy.

less the paragraphs applying to it in the contract laws of the New York Whist Club are given in an appendix for "those who may wish to use it." In the same spirit, the failure of the game of contract to capture so far more than a small minority of the London clubs is referred to with studied moderation. Nor is any substitute offered for the distressing word "vulnerable," perhaps because no satisfactory alternative could be found. What will probably most impress the generosity of students of these laws is the surprisingly small amount of verbal change that has been necessary to fit the laws of auction to the new game. Their influence on the controversy between the advocates of the two games is likely to be small, the truth being that at the moment the more acute controversy is not between auction and contract, but between the two schools of contract players; between those who are greedily adopting the most artificial American conventions and those who are striving to standardize the game on more conservative lines. At this fratricidal conflict auction players can afford to look on with equanimity.

REALTORS HEAR MR. R. F. BLANDY

Speaker Tells Real Estate Board of Injustices of Municipal Finances in the Province

HEAVY BURDEN ON PROPERTY OWNERS

The injustices of the municipal finance system in the Province of British Columbia were outlined yesterday at the regular luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board held in the private dining-room of David Spencer's, Limited, by Mr. R. F. Blandy, municipal clerk for Oak Bay and a member of the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

The best perspective of the taxation problem, said Mr. Blandy, could only be gained by considering it as it existed throughout the entire province. The total cost of running the municipalities of British Columbia in the year 1928 had been $27,000,000, while upon the remainder of the province the sum of $22,000,000 had been spent, of which about $3,000,000 was handed over to the municipalities.

Problems, such as those involved by policing and the building of highways were common to the provincial Government and municipal councils. The principal functions of the municipalities were education, water supply, drainage, fire and health protection, parks, libraries, charities and hospitals.

REAL PROPERTY TAXATION

Municipal finance was largely carried out on taxation of real property, which amounted to $16,000,000; the revenue from public utilities which totaled $4,000,000; and the grant of $3,000,000 received by municipalities from the Government.

"The way in which municipal grants are included in the budget speeches of the Government," said Mr. Blandy, "is distorted, to say the least of it."

The income tax yield for the year 1928, continued the speaker, was $4,700,000. It was an interesting fact that only some 30,000 persons now paid the provincial income tax, while at least one-half of the population of the municipalities of British Columbia were liable for the municipal tax.

"Taxation, taken by itself," continued Mr. Blandy, "so far from being a bugbear, is a definite desideratum, since it is the total income of a community for community work. Every taxation system, however, should be equitable, and should be spent for the good of that community in which it is levied."

"Up to the present time, the burden upon the individual owners of property has been altogether too heavy, and the time has come when some part of the $16,000,000 to which I have referred should be shifted elsewhere. It is true that we have our fanatics, who state that the only people who profit by local improvements are the owners of the property. The total exemption of improvements is a system which has its merits, but is hopelessly out of date."

TAXABLE ASSESSMENTS

"At any rate we cannot get away from the fact that the total value of taxable assessments in British Columbia is decreasing and our assessments rolls show a distinct shrinkage."

"The total debt of the municipalities is $116,000,000, whereas that of the province is only $105,000,000. The combined net debt in this province today is no less than $300 per capita, which means that we have mortgaged our future very seriously indeed, and also that we

German Trial for Witchcraft Comes to End With Strange Verdict

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

BERLIN, Germany, Jan. 10.—In this year of grace 1930 enlightened Germany has decided to permit a case of "witchcraft" on the dockets of its courts. In the Criminal Court of Kroppein, a village of Mecklenburg Province, on the Baltic, yesterday the judge had to pass a verdict in a real witch trial. And it came about this way:

For some time the village had been pursued by evil fortune. It saw its cattle dying off and its harvests destroyed by storms. The peasants could not explain these ills except by their belief in witchcraft. Therefore they engaged the services of a renowned wizard from Rostock, another town on the Baltic, who for $15 and some hams promised to exorcise the malignant witch.

Panic struck the poor peasants when, after weird incantations, an old woman was found in a small patch of woods and declared by the omnipotent wizard to be the baleful witch responsible for the villagers' misfortunes. Thereupon the village butcher stepped up and publicly denounced the old woman.

The husband of the alleged evil one filed suit and in the trial yesterday the butcher was fined for the old woman.

However, it is improbable that the peasants have changed their minds concerning the "witch" identity.

have less money available for general development.

"We have now reached the stage where our taxation system has become too ineffectual. In the year 1921, for instance, the total taxable assessment was $455,000,000. Today it is only $467,000,000. In the year 1913 the cost of schools was $2,000,000. Today it is $7,250,000. It is true that there have been more children, but the situation is not the less serious, when you remember the diminishing of property values within our municipalities."

"We have been content to follow a policy of drift," said Mr. Blandy. "The time has come, however, when a shifting of the burden of taxation from the backs of the real property owners is absolutely essential. The figure which I have in mind is $2,000,000. In order to raise this sum we must adopt something in the form of an income tax policy."

EXAMPLE NEEDED

"Bodies such as this board could not do better than co-operate in forcing home the message that something must be done, and could thereby be of great assistance in the adoption of some concrete examples of the adverse effects of the present system of taxation."

Mr. James Forman moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. Blandy upon the conclusion of the speaker's address. The motion was seconded by Mr. J. Bridgman, and it was decided, upon the suggestion of Mr. Forman, that Mr. Blandy's address should form the subject of discussion at a future session of the board.

STATISTICAL FIGURES ARE PRESENTED FOR SALVATION ARMY EFFORT

Many Free Meals and Beds Are Provided for Destitute People

The officers of the Salvation Army wish to express their thanks to all who have helped to make their Christmas Cheer effort the success that it has been.

As in past years the approach of the festive season made great demands upon the organization, only to find that, as usual, the Army was ready, and the many letters of gratitude that have been received from those to whom hamper were sent, prove how much their work was appreciated.

To a late hour on Christmas Eve cases were being investigated and hamper were going out, and even on Christmas morning it was found that two or three homes had not been provided for, but these were speedily looked after.

The statistical summary for December has now been prepared and forwarded to the Territorial Headquarters, showing that during the Christmas season 163 family hamper were given out, in addition to special Christmas dinners being supplied to seventy-seven persons; and in the week previous to Christmas, twenty-five baskets of groceries were given out, making a total for the festive season of 271.

In addition to the foregoing, 410 free meals were given away during December to needy cases, 294 free beds were provided, and over 700 garments were given away. A group of twenty poor children were taken by motor to a special treat at East Haven, Sidney, and 200 children enjoyed the splendid Christmas programme at the Citadel, 100 being specially invited guests from the families to whom hamper were sent, these being specially remembered when the Christmas tree was dismantled.

The thanks of the officers are given to all who helped in any way to make the Christmas season one of joy and happiness to these needy ones. One of the many touches that made the effort worth while were the letters and donations received from those who were helped the previous year, and who were now able to do something to bring cheer to someone else passing through a similar difficult experience.

PRISONERS TO MAKE PLATES

Automobile Licence Plates Are to Be Made at Oakalla Jail for Provincial Authorities

PLANT ACQUIRED FOR THE PURPOSE

VANCOUVER, Jan. 10.—A Vancouver evening paper says: "Prison labor is to be employed by the Provincial Government at Oakalla, in the manufacture of automobile licence plates."

"This work has hitherto been let by tender to Vancouver industries, and has provided employment to the amount of about $15,000 a year, increasing annually."

The Government has purchased the plant employed in the operation from J. R. Tacey & Son, who had the contract for several years. It is now being moved to Oakalla prison and set up there.

"The equipment consists of two stamping presses, a shear, a conveyor, a baking oven and other minor items. J. R. Tacey & Sons received financial aid from the Government some years ago in the form of an industrial loan. The purchase agreement by the Government has wiped out the balance owing to the Department of Industries. Mr. Tacey said today, but declined to give details."

In connection with the dispatch from Vancouver, Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General of the Province, under whose jurisdiction the matter of the prisoners of the province falls, said that it was true that the department had made arrangements for the taking over of the plant, which had been used in the making of the automobile licence plates in the province, so that employment might be found for the prisoners which would be non-competitive, and at the same time provide employment for the prisoners, with the attendant improvement of their morale.

"The late Liberal government had had this same matter in contemplation," said Mr. Pooley. "The cost of the plant, which was to be about $70,000, had acted as a deterrent," he added.

Under the present conditions a plant was obtained at a reasonable figure, and the opportunity appeared to be a good one for the providing of employment to those in prison.

The system employed was not a new one. It was a practice that was followed in other parts, and the making of these plates afforded an opening wherein the prisoners might be employed without coming into competition with any other commercial concern.

QUESTION OF POLICY

It appears that the taking over of this plant by the Attorney-General's Department for utilization in the Oakalla jail follows the policy of the Government to wind up the various items of business connected with the late Liberal government. The Department of Industries in so far as this can be done, with the intention of as quickly as possible doing away with this branch of the Government.

This matter of preparing the licence plates was in the habit of coming up before the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature each year. The firm which had the contract, and which was the subject of a loan from the Department of Industries in order to carry out the contract, had to have an order nearly a year ahead of time in order that it might secure the metal from the Old Country by water in order to compete successfully with Eastern houses.

HARBIN RETURNS TO NORMAL STATE

Business Now Being Resumed and Question of Administration Considered

By PAUL WRIGHT

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

HARBIN, Manchuria, Jan. 10.—Chinese houses were burned in Hallar at the time of the exodus of a detachment of 170 Chinese troops, according to the first authentic information reaching Harbin. In the Russian section there were fewer burned houses, but these included the Railway Club and the Railway School.

Perfect order was maintained by the Soviet troops, the sale of intoxicants was forbidden and liquor stores and distilleries were sealed by order of the commanding officer, who stationed sentries about the liquor stores.

The Red forces had three airplanes and one armored train. The value of goods in the warehouses seized by the Soviets and sent to Russia is estimated at 1,000,000 local dollars (about $30,000). Merchants who remained in Hallar received their goods from the warehouses on proof of ownership. The bulk of Hallar's stocks of flour and grain was shipped to Russia.

CAVALRY OCCUPY

Since the evacuation by the Soviet troops, December 24, the old Chinese section has been occupied and controlled by a detachment of 250 Mongolian cavalry. During the first ten days of December, the Mongolian chieftains convened in Hallar to discuss the question of Barga autonomy, but the result of the meeting was kept secret. Prince Gwifu, Mongolian leader, is now in Hallar. The Russian portion of Hallar is being administered by an international committee, whose president is a Japanese. The vice-president is a Russian, and the other members are a Georgian and a Tartar. The committee was organized November 26.

Merchants resumed business immediately when order was restored after the evacuation by Chinese troops. There is a shortage of tea, sugar and other foodstuffs at present.

PRISONERS TO MAKE PLATES

Automobile Licence Plates Are to Be Made at Oakalla Jail for Provincial Authorities

PLANT ACQUIRED FOR THE PURPOSE

VANCOUVER, Jan. 10.—A Vancouver evening paper says: "Prison labor is to be employed by the Provincial Government at Oakalla, in the manufacture of automobile licence plates."

"This work has hitherto been let by tender to Vancouver industries, and has provided employment to the amount of about $15,000 a year, increasing annually."

The Government has purchased the plant employed in the operation from J. R. Tacey & Son, who had the contract for several years. It is now being moved to Oakalla prison and set up there.

"The equipment consists of two stamping presses, a shear, a conveyor, a baking oven and other minor items. J. R. Tacey & Sons received financial aid from the Government some years ago in the form of an industrial loan. The purchase agreement by the Government has wiped out the balance owing to the Department of Industries, Mr. Tacey said today, but declined to give details."

In connection with the dispatch from Vancouver, Hon. R. H. Pooley, Attorney-General of the Province, under whose jurisdiction the matter of the prisoners of the province falls, said that it was true that the department had made arrangements for the taking over of the plant which had been used in the making of the automobile licence plates in the province, so that employment might be found for the prisoners which would be non-competitive, and at the same time provide employment for the prisoners with the attendant improvement of their morale.

"The late Liberal government had had this same matter in contemplation," said Mr. Pooley. "The cost of the plant, which was to be about $70,000, had acted as a deterrent," he added.

Under the present conditions a plant was obtained at a reasonable figure, and the opportunity appeared to be a good one for the providing of employment to those in prison.

QUESTION OF POLICY
It appears that the taking over of this plant by the Attorney-General's Department for utilization in the Oakalla jail follows the policy of the Government to wind up the various items of business connected with the loan made through the Department of Industries in so far as this can be done, with the intention of as quickly as possible doing away with this branch of the Government.

This matter of preparing the licence plates was in the habit of coming up before the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature each year. The firm which had the contract, and which was the subject of a loan from the Department of Industries in order to carry out the contract, had to have an order nearly a year ahead of time in order that it might secure the metal from the Old Country by water in order to compete successfully with Eastern houses.

HARBIN RETURNS TO NORMAL STATE

Business Now Being Resumed and Question of Administration Considered

(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

HARBIN, Manchuria, Jan. 10.—Chinese houses were burned in Hallar at the time of the exodus of a detachment of 170 Chinese troops, according to the first authentic information reaching Harbin. In the Russian section there were fewer burned houses, but these included the Railway Club and the Railway School.

Perfect order was maintained by the Soviet troops, the sale of intoxicants was forbidden and liquor stores and distilleries were sealed by order of the commanding officer, who stationed sentries about the liquor stores.

The Red forces had three airplanes and one armored train. The value of goods in the warehouses seized by the Soviets and sent to Russia is estimated at 1,000,000 local dollars (about $392,000). Merchants who remained in Hallar received their goods from the warehouses on proof of ownership. The bulk of Hallar's stocks of flour and grain was shipped to Russia.

CAVALRY OCCUPY
Since the evacuation by the Soviet troops, December 24, the old Chinese section has been occupied and controlled by a detachment of 250 Mongolian cavalry. During the first ten days of December, the Mongolian chiefs convened in Hallar to discuss the question of Barga autonomy, but the result of the meeting was kept secret. Prince Gwifu, Mongolian leader, is now in Hallar. The Russian portion of Hallar is being administered by an international committee, whose president is a Japanese. The vice-president is a Russian, and the other members are a Georgian and a Tartar. The committee was organized November 25.

Merchants resumed business immediately when order was restored, after the evacuation by Chinese troops. There is a shortage of tea, sugar and other foodstuffs at present.

An airline is to be established in the British West Indies.

CONFERENCE DEADLOCKED OVER DEBTS

Owing to No Decisions Being Reached, Some Delegates Are Already Leaving for Home

BIG SIX POWERS HOLD DISCUSSION

French and British Are Still Optimistic That Close of Parley Is Much Closer at Hand

THE HAGUE, Jan. 10.—The leading delegates at the second session of The Hague Conference on the Reparations of the World War are beginning to leave the city of Peace and Arbitration already, although there is as yet nothing definite on paper to suggest the adoption of the Young plan.

Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, left for Paris today for Geneva and the session of the Council of the League of Nations at its ultimate destination. Foreign Minister Julius Curtius, of Germany, is preparing to join him there at the beginning of the week. Other delegates are beginning to leave apprehensively whether they are going to have any time after their conference to prepare for the London naval meeting.

DISCUSSIONS CONTINUE

The Big Six representatives talked together again today. The private conversations went on without anything transpiring to show whether agreement on any question in the French and British remain optimistic and hope everything will be thrashed out by Tuesday evening, but Dr. Curtius had planned to get back from Geneva on Thursday.

The leading delegates today were guests of the Foreign Journalists' Association at a luncheon in celebration of the tenth anniversary of the existence of the League of Nations. Dr. Curtius was impressively pessimistic. He told the journalists that under the circumstances in which the German delegation found itself he had been in doubt as to whether he could join in a manifestation that was meant to be and ought to be joyous.

Court of Appeal Victoria Sittings

McMordie (Respondent) vs. Ford (Appellant) — Respondent leased from appellant premises in Prince Rupert known as the Westholme Theatre. It was alleged that the fire marshal ordered certain work to be done to remedy the inflammable condition of the premises. There was no agreement between the parties as to who should bear the cost of the work. Respondent requested appellant to comply with the order. Appellant did not do this. Respondent carried out the work and incurred the cost of so doing, which he sought to recover from appellant. Appellant alleged that the premises were inspected pursuant to the Moving Pictures Act, and that the money was expended in order to bring the premises within the regulations to enable respondent to obtain a license under the Moving Pictures Act. He denied that any fire hazard existed as contemplated by the Fire-Marshal Act, and therefore no order could properly be issued under that act. Respondent had refused to leave, claiming the benefit of the Fire-Marshal Act and a right to set off the cost of the alterations against the rent. The trial judge found that instructions given by the fire marshal amounted to an order made in pursuance of the Fire-Marshal Act. He further held that the use to which the building was put was a fire hazard and that in determining whether or not any special fire hazard existed, its intended use would have to be anticipated if the inspection was to have any real value. The building in question had been used as a moving picture theatre for eighteen years. The lease implied that the building was to be used, and was fit to be used, as a moving picture theatre, and that was the intention of the parties. Such intended use should be taken into consideration in determining whether or not a fire hazard existed which would bring into effect the provisions of the Fire-Marshal Act. The last board of alterations shall be borne by the owner only, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary. A receipt at the foot of the lease had been signed by respondent, and alterations should be at the owner's expense. The trial judge held that such alterations as were necessary for the enjoyment of the premises as a moving picture theatre, without which the business could not be legally carried on, should be excepted from the provisions of that receipt, and there was no agreement to the contrary within the meaning of the act.

He ruled that respondent was entitled to set off the cost of the work against the rent. The Court of Appeal, however, ruled that the respondent was not entitled to set off the cost of the work against the rent. The Court of Appeal, however, ruled that the respondent was not entitled to set off the cost of the work against the rent.

of these regulations if such craft crosses or goes upon such area after reasonable warning by signal or otherwise.

Colonel Wilby said that according to his interpretation of the above section, seaplanes and water craft could not both operate in the Inner Harbor, owing to the restricted waters of the harbor, if the air regulation is enforced.

Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, on reading the section referred to, said he interpreted the words "seaplane station" to be the restricted area of water within which aircraft would be moored. If this were the case, he stated, the open waters of the Inner Harbor would not be interfered with by this regulation and the harbor would be open to both aircraft and water craft.

MATTER FOR EXPERTS
Alderman Strath declared the industrial committee of the council were not experts in the matters of water navigation or air travel and must be guided by the opinion of experts on these affairs. "Squadron Leader McLeod has given his approval to the Erie Street site as the only one suitable for a seaplane base in the vicinity of Victoria, and there was no objection forthcoming from any department at that time, and as a consequence the authorities at Ottawa gave their approval to the Erie Street location."

The industrial committee yesterday felt that it was not competent to interpret the air regulation which was under consideration, and decided to invite Squadron Leader J. L. McLeod, of Jericho Beach, who is in charge of the Dominion air services in British Columbia, to meet the committee and the Chamber of Commerce port development group on Monday next, at the City Hall, for the purpose of interpreting the said section.

The City Council has approved the Erie Street site for a seaplane base, and authorized the industrial committee to enter into negotiations for the development of the site. Negotiations in this regard are now pending.

Those present at yesterday's conference were Mayor Anson, Alderman W. T. Strath, Alderman E. S. Woodward, Alderman W. H. Cullin, Mr. James H. Beatty, M.P.P., Captain Cyril D. Neroutos, Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, Captain George McGregor, Mr. Duncan D. McTav-

MEXICO MAY JOIN NATIONS' LEAGUE

President-Elect Returning Home With Long List of Reforms He Will Propose for Country

By A. ALCANTARA PASTOR (Copyright, 1935, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service)

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 10.—Settlement of the foreign debt and the claims of foreigners against the Mexican Government for damages incurred during the revolution, also being paramount among the problems of his coming administration, according to a statement granted by the President-Elect, Pascual Ortiz Rubio to the newspaper Imparcial of Guatemala.

Senor Ortiz Rubio voiced his executive policy in the United States, whence he is hastening back after a brief tour with his family and other relatives, to patch the rift in the National Revolutionary party which occurred during his absence.

Settlement of the agrarian debt, meaning payment for the lands seized for distribution among towns and villages lacking communal lands, will also be considered the most important internal problem of his regime, is promised by the President-Elect.

LOOKING TO LEAGUE
Senor Ortiz Rubio's statement, which is published here today, also contains a passage which leads to the belief that Mexico may change its attitude with regard to the League of Nations. It declares that participation by Mexico in the league's work "would serve to cooperate for universal peace." This, coupled with the fact that Emilio Carrillo, retiring President, appointed a Mexican observer at Geneva recently, apparently indicates the possibility that this country will finally decide to accept membership.

As revealed in his interview, the President-Elect also sympathizes with the idea of building a strong Spanish American fleet, and he will help to carry out such a plan if Mexico's finances permit.

An iteration of the main issues of his internal policy, as he announced, includes allotment of lands in continuation of the agrarian policy of his predecessors; enforcement of the Labor bill if enacted by Congress; protection of capital if investments are made in accordance with the laws of the country; building of irrigation works, highways and railroads; development of water transportation where the rivers offer superior means; opening of more rural schools, and the establishment of a mining bank to help small miners.

Juvenile Court, A.O.F. Has Annual Banquet

The Juvenile Court, Court Liberty, Ancient Order of Foresters, met at Foresters' Hall, Commodore Street, last evening for the annual banquet. After supper, served at 6:30 o'clock, and at which a big crowd of juveniles was present, the regular monthly meeting was held, with installation of officers for the ensuing term.

The business meeting was followed by an enjoyable concert, to which parents and other friends were invited. Before a capacity audience an excellent entertainment of songs and dances was given by Messrs. Tommy Larnien and Teddy Gerages, Miss Dolly Rutledge and pupils of Miss Gaskill. Dances included the Irish jig, Dutch dances, a Polish mazurka, a skirt dance, "The Puppets," "Lady Vanity," "Lace and Grace," "Playtime," "Weymouth Chimes" and clog waltz.

At the close of the evening candies and fruit were distributed among the smaller children, and a very hearty vote of thanks was passed to Misses Gaskill, Agnes Kennedy, Frances Merryfield, Dena Pastro, O. Lamerton, Joyce Thomas, Oust, Phyllis Roberts, Dora Roberts, Beryl Yates, Dora Cillis, Beatrice Dowd, Dorothy Ingalls, Christine Dwyer, Hilda Hurst and Dolly Rutledge and Messrs. Scroggs, T. Larnien, Barrie Taylor and Gaskill.

ROAD URGED AS NECESSITY FOR ISLAND

about thirty-one persons. He pointed out in this connection that in view of the scattered character of the settlement there, the obtaining of this number of signatures in the short time available, meant that all who had seen the petition had endorsed it.

Another letter which Mr. Harrison read came from the Bamfield Good Roads Association, and accompanying this letter, which favored the building of this road, was a petition signed by some 220 residents of Bamfield and vicinity in favor of the road, and also making the suggestion that work might be started from Bamfield and continued southerly in the direction of San Juan.

Mr. Harrison, in addressing himself to the subject, pointed to the fact that the road would serve a lot of people. There were many autos in the sections petitioning and a road was needed.

FAIRNESS ALL ROUND
At the same time, he said, he was not asking that this road be built at the expense of having to stop work on the other main highways of the province. What he did wish to urge upon the Government was the fact that it was found that the ocean highway and the West Coast road were important that they should be built together, and carried along, without embarrassing the rest of the country.

Mr. Harrison said that there had been good work done on the highway by the department. He alluded to the fact that Vancouver Island was cut off from the rest of the province. The Highway and the West Coast Road were of vital importance to the city of Victoria and the Island.

He said that he would not touch upon the many arguments in favor of the road alluded to, in view of the fact that these before had been argued before the Government, which he realized was busy, and there should not be the time taken up on the representation of the subject.

VALUE TO TOURISTS
Major H. Cuthbert Holmes, who was also asked to speak, said that the city of Victoria had spent a lot of money on advertising the Island as a tourist resort. The result was now being felt. The results of this advertising, and many were coming. The visitors, however, did not stay long enough.

The construction of this highway route would supply a further inducement for them to remain. There were, said Major Holmes, something like 130,000 people on the continent. A large part of them lived out of sight of the ocean. He believed that if the ocean road was built out from Victoria it would be found that there would be a lot who came here would go out over it in order to reach the ocean. He was of the opinion that this road was a major necessity for the Island.

There were present at the meeting with the minister Mr. Reginald Howard, M.P.P., and Mr. H. H. M.P.P., Mr. P. B. Fowler, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Mr. C. L. Harrison, chairman of the special committee; Major H. Cuthbert Holmes; Reeve E. G. Hayward, Oak Bay; Mr. George I. Warren, public relations commissioner for the city; Mr. J. L. Beckwith, Mr. J. Parfitt, Mr. J. M. Hatt, Alderman W. T. Strath and Mr. Fred McGregor.

ANCIENT RUINS AROUSE WONDER

Prof. Macmillan Brown, of Christchurch, N.Z., Well-Known Ethnologist, Writes About Pongape

"Professor Macmillan Brown, of Christchurch, New Zealand, is famous as the author of 'The Riddle of the Pacific,' a volume dealing with the mysterious monoliths of Easter Island, and well remembered by many Victorians who met him during various visits here, is again before the public as the author of 'Peoples and Problems of the Pacific,' a volume of which the Pacific Islands are the subject. In this volume he discusses another extraordinary ruin which he has examined on the tiny member of the Caroline group and lies 9 degrees north and 159 degrees east. On this island, 'Pongape,' miles from everywhere and thousands of miles from any continental area or route of prehistoric traffic, he has traced the foundations of a far vaster city than any famous ruins of South or Central America.

If I have wandered over the inexorable, untrampled, majestic city of Tiahuanaco to the south of Lake Titicaca, on the Andes, 14,000 feet above the sea, over the tremendous walls of the fort of Sachabaman that dominates Cuzco, over the forest-buried ruins of Central America; but no megalithic ruins have so deeply impressed me as this of Pongape, on the southern coast of the little island of Pongape," writes the professor in his book. "The builders of the American cities had vast areas of land to exploit, doubtless covered and cultivated with the toil of millions. This is a far vaster city than any of them. It has none of the carving or sculpture that adorns the ruins of Central America, and even of the Andes. Its gigantic stones were shaped and tooled by the hand of nature; they are basaltic crystals, varying in facets from four to eight. But even when all this is grasped the problem is ten times harder to explain than these great American cities that were most of them ruins when the Spaniards came.

THIRTY-TON STONES
The area covered greatly transcends anything to be seen in America. The stones were on the average even greater than those that the Incas dragged such long distances and placed. Many of them must be thirty tons in weight, and how these could be quarried out of their cliffs, transported twenty miles away, and set in their places, have been more than thirty feet high, and without any of our modern methods or machinery for their manipulation is a question that can only be partially and conjecturally answered. But the mystery of their existence is whence the muscle and the sustenance could have come out of this archipelago of islets sufficient to quarry, transport and erect these countless beams of stone.

"It sounds like a dream; but there is nothing dreamlike about the structures. The stupendous walls have stood the test of nearly four thousand years, and they will be standing, if the waters fail to engulf them, when all the existing cities of the world have mouldered into dust or are getting dismantled from their mounds, like ancient Babylon. Twenty thousand years hence they will look as fresh and impressive as they do today in spite of the dislodging growth of giant breadfruit trees, coconut palms, and the fall of periodical typhoons. Many of their places have been hurled from their places, perhaps by the hand of man, but mostly by the hand of nature, and are strewn about the courtyards; and many of them fifteen feet thick and truncated and lowly, none of them more than thirty feet high, and many of them fifteen feet thick. Only modern weapons of destruction and modern machinery could further disintegrate this Titanic city built in the ocean.

STREETS ARE WATERWAYS
"One of the most striking things about this great city is that it is Venice. With Kubary and Christchurch, I serve again in the East, and here, there is no evidence of subsidence here, of a land-city sinking into the sea. The streets are manifestly waterways, as those of Venice in the City Temple, had in colossal breakwaters on either side of them are all above low tide; the buildings have been erected on islands that have been plainly laid on the reef by the hand of man. The reef is perhaps at its narrowest here; but it is a level platform, the ocean edge of which stands over a meter above the reef level. The greatest building there is a sheltered nook in a canal, where even at low tide a canoe could be launched into the wide ocean, clear of reef and surf. Round about the city is a megalithic breakwater, vulnerable only at small cordon of soldiers or small cordon of gunboats, and has been dropped here to block an invader by sea."

POWER
Health Service of the Canadian Medical Association.

Power is a word which we frequently use. Mechanical or electrical power is now constantly in use, so much so, in fact, that we do not give much thought to the conveniences and comforts brought to us by application of power. Certain individuals are admired, envied, or feared because of their power, and among them, are those who properly use such power and, unfortunately, those who abuse it. In many ways, personal power represents success. The individual who has gone ahead and reached the peak in his particular line of work has attained to power in that field.

In any and every type of work, we are helped to success if we possess physical and mental health. No individual is able to do his best work unless he has health. He may do good work, his achievements may be great, but unless he has health, he cannot attain his full measure of success. If he has not health, he has not developed his capacities to excel, but unless he has health, he is fully developed, he has not reached the peak of efficiency.

Work, play, rest and sleep in moderation are all necessary. Overwork to the point of fatigue, overplay resulting in undue strain, lack of rest and sleep which the body requires in order to regain and store up energy—any one or all of these may result in stress which lowers physical and mental efficiency and to decrease personal power. The individual who is apparently defying the law of moderation with impunity suffers in loss of personal power. He may not be immediately aware of it, and the day will come when he must pay the penalty in an obvious way.

In order to do our best work, in order to enjoy our play, in order to live happy lives, we should be aware of the fact that work, play and rest all have their time and place, and that they should all be taken in moderation. The long grind is a mistake. Better work, better results if its progress is broken by periods of relaxation either at play or at rest.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

TO SURVEY MISSION FIELD

Ladies' Auxiliary of T.B. Section, Canadian Legion, Make Excellent Hosts

Members of the Tuberculous Veterans Section of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., were the guests of the ladies' auxiliary at the annual banquet held in the New Thought Temple, 720-1/2 Port Street, last night. After Dr. Clem Davies, pastor of the City Temple, had invoked his blessing, all sat down at the prettily decorated tables and enjoyed the sumptuous feast provided.

Following the banquet Dr. Clem Davies gave a short address, and from then on the fun began. A lengthy but much appreciated programme of entertainment followed with the following artists contributing: Mrs. Dearborn, readings; Mrs. Travis, songs; Miss Lewis, readings; Miss Smith, piano selections; Miss Williams and Miss Lewis, vocal duets, and Mr. Booth, songs. The latter also led the community singing, one part of the programme in which all took part.

Near the close of an enjoyable evening, Mr. Robert MacNeil, secretary of the Provincial Command of the Canadian Legion, visited the scene of the function and spoke briefly on the growth of the Canadian Legion and its Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mrs. Laing was the convener of the programme, while Mrs. Crocker, president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, occupied the chair.

FARMERS FINISH CONVENTION WORK

Manitoba Agriculturists Complete Agenda and Pass Resolutions on Variety of Subjects

BRANDON, Jan. 10.—Policies of the United Farmers of Manitoba had been outlined for another year when the four-day annual convention closed today. Out of a pile of more than half a hundred resolutions about two dozen emerged bearing the seal of the farm assembly. Almost three-quarters of the accepted resolutions were the entire convention were approved on the last day.

The annual session terminated, however, without a heavy rush of unfinished business. Ten of the resolutions passed on the final day were referred to the attention of the Provincial Government.

POLICY FOR FUTURE
An industrial training school for delinquent girls should be established in Manitoba in the near future, said one resolution. Another endorsed the Provincial Government's proposal to establish public health areas and to employ municipal doctors.

Protection for deserving farmers was sought in a resolution asking institution of a system of debt adjustment to prevent foreclosures in certain cases, and a requested amendment of the Statute Act would make the number of farmers' work horses exempt from seizure six instead of only four.

Hunt Club Ball Adds Steeplechase Feature

At the Victoria Hunt Club ball, on Wednesday, January 22, there will be one innovation, a steeplechase. Owners will be chosen by lots from the assembled guests, and six horses will go to the barrier.

The horses are as follows: 1—Faith, by Good Luck-Keep Going. 2—Hope, by Pandora-Hang On. 3—Charity, by Give Away-Despair. 4—Wine, by Sporting Blood-Gone Reckless. 5—Women, by Joy-Despair. 6—Song, by Choral-Inebriate.

All these horses are well known on the Coast—Wine, Woman, Song and Hope having run well at the Nanaimo Hunt Club ball. In fact, the Nanaimo dog sheet says that Wine, Woman and Song are a hard combination to beat. Women may act badly at the barrier, while Wine jump. In any case, the two new entries, Faith and Charity will have to run on their best form in order to be in the money.

This ball has every evidence of being the outstanding party of the year, and tremendous preparations are in hand. The tickets are going splendidly, and it is requested that those who have not already bought tickets are desirous of being present, signify their intentions immediately, as indications are that admissions will not be available after Tuesday.

Big representations of the Army and Navy will be present, while several parties are coming from Nanaimo and Duncan, and some from Vancouver. Several members of the Tacoma Riding Club will also be at the ball.

Tickets may be reserved by telephone or letter at the office of G. A. Stinson & Company, Limited, or at the Dominion Bank, Yates Street.

HUDSON'S BAY BUILDING IS APPRECIATED

Colonnades Much-Admired Feature of New Store Addition at Calgary—Construction Makes Record

PRACTICALLY ALL MADE IN CANADA

"It is the Hudson's Bay Company's New Year's gift to Calgary," P. J. Parker, general manager in Western Canada for the company, remarked while on a tour of inspection of the beautiful colonnades in front of the Hudson's Bay store on First Street West and Eighth Avenue, which were opened to public on New Year's Day.

Accompanied by F. M. Johnston, manager of the Calgary store; A. H. Doe, controller of store construction; and a number of prominent Calgary citizens, Mr. Parker viewed the completed colonnades, which have improved greatly the appearance of the busiest corner in the city, on Thursday morning. He expressed utmost satisfaction upon the completion of the beautiful architectural work under the supervision of Mr. Doe.

THOUSANDS VIEW STORE
All day Wednesday and Thursday, thousands of Calgaryans thronged the spacious pillared arcade and viewed the attractively decorated store windows.

"It is a great source of satisfaction to us that we were able to secure practically all the materials for the colonnades from Canadian sources," Mr. Doe told the Herald. Only in the case of the terra cotta, which is not available in Canada, and the Italian marble used in the floor, were we compelled to go to foreign markets."

Mr. Doe emphasized the fact that the huge pillars are made of Quebec granite, that the beautiful bronze work surrounding the windows was made in Canada, and that the only flooring for the windows as well as the flooring of the colonnades came from Canada. The colonnades and the store addition were constructed by Bennett & White, a Calgary firm, while Canadian architects were employed.

The unique flooring utilized in the windows was the cause of much comment. Oak and teak sections of wood are cleverly placed to form intricate and handsome patterns.

CONSTRUCTION RECORD

Gratification was expressed by officials of the company upon the rapid progress which has been made in the erection of the store addition. Then entire building will have been completed by the end of January and in the short space of eight months, a four store building will have been torn down and a six storey building, surrounded by colonnades erected. This is believed to constitute a Canadian building record.

Extensive changes are to be made to the old store to bring it into conformity with the addition. The main floor for instance, is to be of Tennessee marble throughout. A

Delegates Chosen for World-Wide Meeting

The quarterly meeting of the Mothers' Union was held at St. Mary's Hall, Oak Bay, on Wednesday. The president announced that Mrs. Sydney Oliver, diocesan secretary, and Mrs. Horace Hamlet had been appointed by the diocesan council to represent Columbia Diocese at the world-wide conference in London in July, and it was decided by the meeting that a collection shall be taken at the next meeting in March, which they shall present in a sealed bag at the thanksgiving service in Westminster Abbey on July 24 as an offering from Columbia Diocese. A vote of sympathy was passed to Mrs. Thomas and Mrs. Hamlet on the death of their aunt, Miss Sweet. A most interesting letter from Mrs. Walker, a new member at Quathiaski Cove, was read describing conditions there. The president, Mrs. Cropper, gave an account of her visit to the Mothers' Union Branch in Vancouver, and also delivered a new year's message to the members, giving them as a motto for 1930, "Let your manner of life be worthy of the Gospel of Christ," and urging them to "remember it was an honor to work for God's Kingdom. Mrs. Cropper, enrolling member for Shawanigan Lake, gave a most helpful address on the responsibilities of mothers, stressing the fact that the foundation of habits, physical, mental and religious, cannot be laid too young.

St. Barnabas' Guild Elects New Officers

The annual meeting of St. Barnabas Guild was held in the school-room on Thursday afternoon with the rector, Rev. N. E. Smith, in the chair. Reports of last year's work were read and adopted. The treasurer presented the financial statement, which showed the guild had a very successful year and several new members had been enrolled. The following officers were elected by acclamation: President, Mrs. P. E. Corby; honorary secretary, Mrs. Dyer; honorary treasurer, Mrs. White, this making her fourth year of office as treasurer. Mrs. Bassett, vice-president; executive, Mesdames Gredin, Jones, Neller, Moffat and Miss Haytman.

The activities for the first of the year will be a whist drive, which will be held in the school-room on Thursday, January 30.

QUIET WEDDING IS CELEBRATED

A quiet wedding of interest took place on Wednesday evening at the First United Church, when Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson united in marriage Frances Harkness (Panny), third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. McKenzie, 2821 Shouthern Street, and Mr. George Edward Campion, only son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Campion, Savannah Avenue, Saanich.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a gown of white tulle, made with close-fitting bodice and flounced skirt of uneven hemline, stitched with silver and trimmed with brilliant white, sometimes tinted beige or old ivory, and often of a pale shade of the dress, says an article in The London Times.

In America, pique is much worn, cut with castellated edges, the collar joined to a plastron or with attached revers, and deep gaudy cuffs cut in the same way. A set of pique of this description smartens a black or navy blue morning dress and gives a fresh and clean appearance. Petal collars and cuffs of pique are also frequent.

SCARF COLLAR
The newest thing is a scarf collar made of a colored bordered handkerchief which is effective when worn with one of the new woolen or fine tweed dresses, the border of the handkerchief being either in sharp contrast to the color of the dress or taking up one of the tones of the tweed.

Fine hand-drawn handkerchiefs of white linen, lawn or mull are also worn as neckties; sometimes as many as four are used for the collar and cuffs of one dress. Fine linen-drawn squares, delicately hand-worked, are worn as jabots, being held at one point by a brooch and then allowed to fall in a cascade down the front of the dress, or sometimes from the shoulder. One of exquisite open-work covering half its surface and edged with very fine bobbin lace, has been worn on an afternoon dress of dull black satin.

Salt Spring Socials
Miss Lois Wilson, of "Barnaby," returned home on Tuesday after a week's visit to Victoria, the guest of Mrs. E. A. Eagle.

Mr. W. P. Dickson, of Nelson, arrived on Monday at Beaver Point, where he will be the guest for a week of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Pollock.

Miss Clair Wilson, of Ganges, returned to the Island on Thursday, after a few days' visit to Vancouver, where she was the guest of Captain and Mrs. K. S. Hally.

Mr. and Mrs. Desmond Crofton, of Ganges, left last Tuesday for a short visit to Vancouver.

Draped on Feminine Lines

THE lines of this dress reveal the latest in feminine styles. Of bottle green crepe, with a velvet bow finishing the three-cornered neckling and draped hip yoke, this frock emphasizes the uneven hemline and slender silhouette.

Frills and Furbelows

Handwork Is Being Revived to Give an Additional Touch of Daintiness to Fashionable Frocks

Nearly every morning dress now has its touch of lingerie, little collars and cuffs of frilled, pleated or merely hemstitched georgette, sometimes white, sometimes tinted beige or old ivory, and often of a pale shade of the dress, says an article in The London Times.

In America, pique is much worn, cut with castellated edges, the collar joined to a plastron or with attached revers, and deep gaudy cuffs cut in the same way. A set of pique of this description smartens a black or navy blue morning dress and gives a fresh and clean appearance. Petal collars and cuffs of pique are also frequent.

WOMEN WILL DISCUSS QUESTIONS OF WAR

Five Countries to Be Represented at Gathering in Washington, D.C.

By SUE McNAMARA
(Associated Press Feature Service Writer)
WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Ten women, representing five great nations, are on their way to Washington to discuss what women can do to support their governments in steps taken at the naval limitation conference in London. They will act as delegates from Japan, Germany, England, France and the United States at the conference on the cause and cure of war which opens here January 14. This will be the first presentation of the viewpoints of other nations at the conference since it was organized two years ago. At the four previous sessions only American speakers appeared. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, veteran white-haired fighter for women's cause, for nearly fifty years, arrived today to welcome the five international delegates and the 500 women representing ten organizations in this country.

Catt is national chairman of the conference, which she founded.

Goitre Not a Disease

Milwaukee Doctor Makes Remarkable Discovery

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—It has been brought to light by scientific research that goitre is not a disease and is not to be treated as such. Dr. A. Rock, Dept. 894, Box 297, Milwaukee, Wis., a prominent goitre specialist for over twenty-four years, has perfected a different method of treatment for his patients that has proved remarkably successful. This same method is now being used for a home treatment of goitre cases all over the country with astonishing results. The doctor states that goitre is a condition which grows worse with neglect and recommends immediate attention no matter how small the growth may appear. He strongly opposes needless operations.

Dr. Rock is the author of a book that tells in a simple way about treating goitre at home. He has published this book at his own expense and will send a copy free to anyone interested. Write him today.

Women's Clubs and Societies

W.A. of St. Mary's, Melchieson

The Women's Auxiliary met on Thursday afternoon at St. Mary's Vicarage. The president, Miss Blythe, opened the meeting with prayer. A substantial sum of money was turned in, proceeds from the sale of hand lotion, made by two of the members, who will continue to offer this for sale for the benefit of W.A. funds. Five dollars was the amount made at the bridge and tea party given by Mrs. Jordan on Tuesday. However, it was thought that vanishing teas were not advisable at this time, so they will be discontinued, and members are to make a free will offering instead at the next meeting. It was arranged that Mrs. Osborne take Miss Mune as a place as delegate to the annual convention of the W.A. in Victoria, January 23 to 25. After some discussion it was decided to take Rev. W. E. Beck's book, "Sign Posts" for the study book, and Miss Milne read a chapter aloud. After the meeting closed, tea was served by Mrs. Gavin Weir.

Knox Ladies' Aid

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Presbyterian Church, was held on Thursday afternoon in the classroom. Mrs. Dempsey presided. Mrs. Francis led the devotional period. All members of affiliated societies and any others interested will be welcomed.

St. Andrew's Anniversary

THE present church edifice of St. Andrew's Presbyterian congregation was erected at the corner of Douglas and Broughton Streets, during the pastorate of the late Rev. P. McE. McLeod. The corner stone was laid in March, 1889, by the Hon. John Robson, an elder of the congregation, Premier of the Province, and a benefactor of every worthy cause. The formal opening took place on January 11, 1899. The preachers on that occasion were Rev. D. J. MacDonell, of Toronto, and Rev. E. D. McLaren, D.D., of Vancouver. Through many years of general depression the congregation struggled with a large debt incurred in the erection of this building. At times the burden seemed greater than could be borne. Finally a scheme, devised by the business acumen of Mr. R. P. Kithet and supported by his munificence, was adopted by the congregation, and, loyally, often self-denyingly, pursued, until in 1906, on the fortieth anniversary of the founding of the congregation, the last dollar was paid and St. Andrew's was free of debt.

The pastor resuming his series on Religious Problems of Young People. At Garden City in the afternoon a communion service will be held, the subject of the sermon being "Faith to God." An open meeting of educational value will be held by the Young People's Club of Wilkenson Road Church on Monday night at 8 o'clock, when Mr. B. C. Nicholas will speak.

Progressive Thought Temple Programme

Dr. A. F. Barton has chosen two unusual themes for his sermons tomorrow in the Progressive Thought Temple. In the morning at 11 o'clock he will speak on "Your Golden Opportunity," in which he will explain the law of service. At the evening service at 7:30 he will take for his theme "Perplexing Questions," in which he will deal with the unrest in the world and will also offer solutions for attaining world peace and the settlement of the problems most distracting to the human race today. Mrs. Lefevre will be the soloist at this service, who has chosen "My Task" as her solo number.

On Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock Dr. Barton will give another health lecture, the subject of which will be "The Cause and Cure of the Flu." The committee announces that Mrs. Bailey, 400 Burnside Road, has donated the use of her home for a card party on the evening of January 20 and that a dance will be held in the Sons of England Hall on Thursday.

WARNING AS GIVEN BY GREAT PYRAMID: TOPIC, R. C. JACKSON

COPPER USED EXTENSIVELY IN INDUSTRY

500,000,000 Brass Matrices Are in Service in Linotype Machines of the World

IS INDISPENSABLE METAL OF TRADE

Copper's role in meeting the increased demand for machinery and for manufacturing materials, resulting from the application of power to industry, is described in a special issue of the bulletin of the Copper and Brass Research Association issued recently, featuring "Copper's Service to Industry."

"Copper's part in manufacturing is not always evident to the consumer," the bulletin states. "For some industries employ the metal in making products which do not themselves contain it." An example is the printed page, the type for which is usually cast automatically from brass matrices. About 500,000,000 of these brass matrices are in service today in newspaper and commercial printing plants throughout the world.

"Some industries consume copper that becomes an integral part of the completed product, as in the manufacturing of clocks and automobiles. Fabricating activities of this kind use copper both in the product itself and in the machinery that turns out the product."

"Seventy-five per cent of American industry is now electrified. Hence, before an ounce of copper is consumed either as mechanical equipment or as parts for products, the average industry is already employing copper for the transmission and use of power and frequently also for its generation."

According to the bulletin, one of the leading clock and watch manufacturers alone consumes about 1,500,000 pounds of brass annually in a single rapid transit system in New York requires 600,000 pounds of copper, brass and bronze each year for service use, in addition to more than 2,000,000 feet of copper wire and cable. Furniture vanity creates a market of 25,000 pounds of copper a year in the manufacture of rough boxes and compact by one firm.

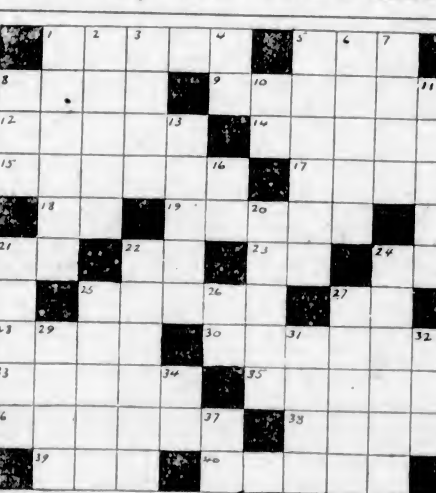

Clothing manufacture calls for an extensive use of copper and for metal performs many services in the textile industry processes of dyeing, washing, bleaching, drying, printing, pressing and calendering. The estimated annual increase in electric horsepower used by textile mills indicates that the industry is responsible for a yearly consumption of about 6,300,000 pounds of copper for electrical purposes alone.

"Power, through its expansion of industry, has been a factor indirectly responsible for the steady growth of the markets for copper, brass and bronze. With the application of power to industry, the need for machinery and for manufacturing materials increased. In supplying this need the producers and fabricators of copper have played an indispensable part."

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

Between Twelve and One

By VERNON LODER

"So it is that spawn," said he to himself suddenly. "Well, well, well! But it's not caviare to the general this time!"

He took out a book in which he made notes on the case and copied in the report about the fish spawn. Then he looked that book away and read the report once more.

Two not very informative reports came in during the rest of the day. One with regard to Smith and one about Colper. Inspector Harte rang up from London. He had discovered that two parcels of stock had been sold by Mr. Cuppols five months ago and the proceedings invested in Cambellan Art Silk shares. He had found that these shares were sold a fortnight later and the proceeds banked with a Scotch bank in Edinburgh. He was on the point of going North to see what had happened after that.

Cobham smiled. He meant to do a little natural history investigation on his own next day, and before he went to bed he had arranged with the local angling society for the assistance of their keeper and the expert from Mr. Holt's fish hatchery.

These two met him next morning by appointment and the whole party set off for Tendon Oaks in the police car, including a small drag net and a larger net used for capturing parent fish in the spawning season.

"Don't expect to find another copper, do you, sir?" asked the keeper as they arrived at the end of the pond.

"No, we're after live bait this time," he replied.

"Any particular kind, superintendent?" asked the pisciculturist with a laugh.

"Roach, please," said Cobham.

He helped them at first with the large net, but stood aside when the net was brought up with its live freight, and the expert took up the catch with fish and examined them, sorting out the females, marking the males, and putting them back into the pond.

They dragged the waters of the pond a good many times, and when they had finished the superintendent cast a warning glance at the man from the hatchery to hint that their secret was not to be let into their secret.

"I want a written report, please," he said. "I want it to be clear and unmistakable, signed with your name."

"Very well," said the expert. "Now you want some spawn, don't you? Spawning has been a bit late this year."

"Roach spawn particularly," said Cobham.

The keeper scratched his head. He could not see why the police wanted fish spawn. For the moment he was inclined to believe that the benevolent superintendent intended to start an angling club among the police and was anxious to get stock from this pond.

Cobham did not enlighten him. The expert with the drag net fished up various samples of spawn, put them in small jars, put the jars in a bag, and informed them that he was ready for home.

"I can let you have that report the day after tomorrow, Inspector," he said as they picked up their impediments and returned to the car. "Good! I shall be glad of it."

"Are you coming with us?"

"No. The driver will take you over and come back for me a little later."

So the pisciculturist and the mystified keeper left, and the superintendent let himself in at the door.

front door of the mansion and stood for a moment in the hall listening. He knew that Mand had gone and the servants. But it was unlikely that the house had been left empty. Probably a caretaker was in charge. As he moved down the hall, he heard a back door slam. He found a bell-push, pressed it, and was joined in the hall a few minutes later by an under-keeper, whom he knew slightly.

"But how did you get in, sir?" "With these little keys, my dear fellow. Are you alone?"

"No, the missus and the kid have moved in with me, sir—only Mary at school and the missus has gone over to get one of the things she left."

Cobham smiled. "Well, I shall be here for some time." "Wait any help, sir?"

"None, thank you. You carry on with your job and I'll attend to mine."

"Very well, sir."

The caretaker went off. He would have liked to stand and watch the superintendent at work, but he knew that the latter could be very sharp on occasion.

Cobham shut the front door and slipped into the music room. He looked hard at the organ for a little, placed a chair on top of a table, putting a rug over the table surface to prevent it from getting scratched, and at another rug on the seat of the chair. Then he climbed up and tried to fish in the tops of the pipes.

After a while he satisfied himself that there was nothing there and got down. He had put all the books from the shelves next, without result, and finally examined every piece of furniture in the room.

"I see," he mused, when he had turned the place inside out. "Merton slept next to Mand, and I think I shall have a look at his room more."

He mounted the stairs and went along a passage until he came to the room formerly occupied by Clive Merton. Here he was very thorough, lifting the carpet, and stamping to detect creaking or loose boards, searching on top of the wardrobe, and finally looking very hard at the chairs. They were of an old-fashioned pattern, and one in particular attracted his attention.

"An odd one," he said to himself. He began to hum "A che la morte." Italian opera was one of his passions.

As he stared at it, a little gleam came into his eyes. He knelt down beside it and looked at every bit of it with a magnifying glass. "Good for you, old fellow!" he said to himself genially. "It certainly seems to hang together. Nasty, ominous word is 'hang' though!"

He rubbed his hands, marked a tiny and inconspicuous cross on the underside of the chair and left the room.

"I think it is up to me to see Mr. Merton," he said. "A bit of a journey, and rather a bore just now, but it must be done."

He had some time to spare before the car would come back for him, and spent it in Mand's room, or

Spooky Is Persistent

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

"It's never easy to resist. The one who always doth persist. —Spooky the Screech Owl."

Spooky knows how to be persistent. Once he has made up his mind that he wants a certain thing, he will keep right on trying to get it way despite all sorts of discouragements. Spooky didn't like it at all when he found himself back in his old home in a hollow in an apple tree in the Old Orchard. Farmer Brown's Boy had put him back there despite all protests. Spooky hadn't wanted to leave that old home in the first place, but when he had made up his mind that he could no longer live there, it upset him considerably to find himself back there.

Spooky ruffled up all his feathers, snapped his bill, grumbled and mumbled, and finally climbed up to the entrance. By this time Farmer Brown's Boy was no longer in sight. Spooky sat there blinking. He looked down at the crack that had let the light and the cold air into his home. He saw where Drummer the Woodpecker had widened that crack.

"Can't live here, can't live here!" Spooky mumbled over and over to himself. "Got to move, got to move. That house, Farmer Brown's Boy took me out of was mine. I found it. I'm going back there."

Now, if you have the idea that Spooky the Screech Owl cannot see in the daytime, you are very greatly mistaken. He prefers the hours of darkness, but he can see perfectly in daylight. So now it was a perfectly simple matter for him to fly straight over to that house in the maple tree in Farmer Brown's front yard. He flew straight to the entrance and started to go in. But he didn't go in. Happy Jack the Grey Squirrel was in there, and Happy Jack had no intention of allowing Spooky to get inside. How Spooky did snap that bill of his. How he did scold! And how in his turn Happy Jack scolded. Almost at once Sammy Jay and the other feathered folk gathered around. They were not particularly friendly to Happy Jack, but they were less friendly to Spooky. So they started in to make life miserable for him. They gathered close about him and screamed at him and called him names. Now and then one would dart at him as if to strike him, but at the last instant his courage would fail.

Spooky wasn't enjoying it a bit. In the first place he didn't like to have so much attention drawn to him. In the second place he disliked all that noise. In the third place he felt that it was nobody's business but his own. So Spooky was a very angry small person. He was indeed. But he wouldn't give in. He wouldn't be driven away. If Happy Jack wouldn't come out, there was nothing to do but wait. Sooner or later he would have to come out. If necessary, he would wait until dark. He knew that Happy Jack would be afraid of him then.

By and by Farmer Brown's Boy, hearing the noise out there in the maple tree, came to see what the trouble was this time. When he discovered Spooky he chuckled. "So you are back again!" he exclaimed. "It must be you like that house. You certainly are persistent."

He climbed up in the tree, thinking perhaps he might be able to catch Spooky, but he couldn't do it. Spooky just flew a short distance out of reach. Farmer Brown's Boy tried to scare him out of the tree, but Spooky wouldn't scare. It was clear that he had made up his mind that he was going to get possession of that house somehow and not drive him away.

Paolino Uzcudun Outpoints Otto Von Porat in Decisive Fashion

Basque Proves Too Tough for Norwegian in Ten-Round Battle

Van Porat Takes Only One Round of Mix at Madison Square Garden Before Large Crowd—Uzcudun Baffles Opponent by Crouching

By WALTER TRUMBULL
(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Paolino Uzcudun outpointed Otto Von Porat, of Oslo, Norway, here tonight before one of the largest fight crowds seen recently in the Garden. There was no doubt of the decision. Von Porat came out in the very first round with the evident intention of trying for a knockout and staggered Paolino with several powerful rights to the head. Otto took this round and it was the only one he did take.

Never was the matter of styles better exemplified. Von Porat is younger than Paolino and can hit harder and is a better boxer. At times he looked a formidable man but he never had a chance with the courageous Basque.

The Norwegian has fought better men, such as Scott or Campolo. He might beat men who could beat Paolino, but I doubt whether Von Porat himself ever would win from the bounding Basque.

Uzcudun Tough Battler
As Tuffy Griffiths said yesterday, Paolino is the toughest of them all and he is certainly the toughest of them all for men of Von Porat's build and style.

Again it was demonstrated that the Norwegian cannot make a good showing against a man who carries the fight to him and makes him fight in close. This is exactly what Paolino did. He would come in constantly, giving Von Porat nothing but his forearms and the top of his head to hit. He would come in closer in a little, Paolino would swing, duck, bob and then pump in a flow of blows. Otto must have thought at times that Paolino had as many arms as an octopus.

The Norwegian was a bewildered young man. After that first round Otto reminded the spectators of an amateur trying to open a door or a householder who, in attempting to drive a nail with the hammer, has put one bare foot in the flypaper and pulled the window curtains about his head.

Paolino had a bloody nose at the end of the encounter but a little thing such as this never bothers the Basque, and the blood on his underlip only served to frame a smile.

How should a pivot be executed by a player with a ball in his possession?

Answered by
DR. JAMES NAISMITH
Inventor of Basketball, University of Kansas

According to this year's rules a pivot is made in two different ways. When the player is stationary or if running he stops with both feet equally forward. He may pivot around either foot. But if he is running when he receives the ball and he stops with one foot in advance of the other, he must pivot around the rear foot.

The pivot is made by keeping one foot on the ground and swinging around it, placing the foot in a new position.

This may be done in two ways. If the opponent is behind him, the swinging foot is carried in an arc forward and around the pivot foot. If the opponent is in front, the swinging foot is carried in an arc backward and around the pivot foot.

In the execution of either of these the body is bent forward, the knees are slightly bent, with the weight on the balls of the feet. At the time the impetus is given with the swinging foot, the weight is shifted to the other side. The knee of the moving foot is slightly bent and drawn towards the body.

So long as the pivot foot remains in one place the other may be moved as many times as desired, but the pivot foot must not be raised until the ball has been disposed of in some way.

The most secure way is to hold the ball close to the body with the elbows out. If the opponent attempts to reach the ball it may be held at arms length either straight in front or to one side.

Outsider Shows Way in Los Angeles Open Golf

Johnny Rogers Only One of Fast Field to Break Par—Scores Mount High as Sharp Winds Dart Over Course—Hagen Takes 81

RIVERA COUNTRY CLUB, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—Crouched behind a bulwark of sodden fairways, distressingly slow greens, and wind gusts that darted in and out of this canyon course, old man par resisted all but one attack on his stronghold today in the first round of the seventy-two-hole $10,000 Los Angeles open golf championship.

To a rank outsider, Johnny Rogers, of Denver, went the honors today of turning in a sub-par card of 70, one under, starts of Los Angeles, while every one of the luminaries of golf now on the ground was forced to be content with scores reaching amazingly high totals.

TWO IN SECOND PLACE
The Denver entrant's feat alienated the thunder of the big guns of golf. His nearest rivals, Al Espinosa, Chicago, and Johnny Sever, eighteen-year-old amateur, of Los Angeles, chalked up 72's. Sever's accomplishment was remarkable—Espinosa's expected. Each turned in 36's for the two nines.

Trapped by the trickery of the elements and dead greens, Horton Smith, Joplin, Mo., young pro sensation; Leo Diegel, of Agua Caliente, P.G.A. champion, and Denny Shute, of Columbus, worked their way around the course in seventy-three strokes each. MacDonald Smith, winner of this event for the last two years and a favorite to repeat, faltered in his putting game and took a 30-38-77.

Far behind, Walter Hagen, of Detroit, scored up to an 81. The Hag, holder at various times of every important title in the world, cracked wide open for a 41-40, to practically eliminate himself from the important money. Both his long and short games were off.

Former national open titleholders, Tommy Armour, of Detroit, and Johnny Farrell, of St. Augustine, Florida, had first rounds of 34-40-76. Armour's outgoing nine was one under par, but his game went to pieces coming in. Two other veteran campaigners, Bobby Cruikshank, of New York, and Abe Rabinowitz, of Chicago, finished the first day in the 74 class.

ACTION TO STOP FIELDING-CARTER MIX THROWN OUT

Mr. Justice Gregory, in Supreme Court, Refuses to Grant Application Made by Joe Bayley for Injunction to Restrain Local Boy From Entering Ring Tonight

His Lordship Hears of Long Search for Defendant in Case

The Supreme Court yesterday refused to grant an injunction restraining Thomas Phelan, otherwise known as "Tommy Fielding," from engaging in a boxing contest at the Tillicum Club here tonight. The injunction was sought by Joseph Stanley Bayley, better known as "Joe Bayley," a former lightweight champion of Canada, on the ground that Fielding had entered into a duly executed and signed agreement with him not to engage in any such contests without his consent, for a period of five years.

The hearing of the application for an injunction was preceded by a search for Fielding extending over many hours across much territory. On Thursday afternoon Mr. J. Percival Walls, counsel for Bayley, had obtained authority from Mr. Justice Gregory to serve a short notice upon Fielding. When court opened on Friday morning, however, Mr. Walls was obliged to announce to his lordship that he was unable to show that the notice had yet been served.

But he said he had made every effort toward that end. Hither and yon, to and fro had he gone, up to a late hour on the preceding evening and early on Friday morning to the Tillicum Club, to Fielding's residence, to Colwood, and elsewhere; but Fielding's whereabouts had suddenly become wrapped in unaccountable mystery.

In view of these circumstances the court said that substituted service would be allowed. If Mr. Walls could show service of notice to any adult member of Fielding's family before 12 o'clock, that would be accepted. Meanwhile hearing of the application was adjourned until 2:30 o'clock. When the court again opened at that hour, Fielding was present, and service of notice was acknowledged.

Whereas the said Thomas Phelan is desirous of entering into matches with others of like calling, (that of boxer), and is desirous of having said Joseph Stanley Bayley act as his manager, adviser, and maker of matches, and the said Joseph Stanley Bayley is capable and willing to act as such, . . . the parties hereto agree as follows:

"First—For a period of five years from the date hereof the boxer, (Fielding) shall give and devote his exclusive time and services to the manager, (Bayley).

"Second—He, the said boxer, will box with only such persons as his manager may arrange for him, and will appear at such times and such places as shall be designated by said manager.

Master Putting During Winter

As the chip shot is merely a long putt played with a lofted club in order to jump your ball over the longer grass of a fairway, it stands to reason that a mastery of putting principles gives one control over two radically different lies during a round.

So, master putting. You can do it this winter at odd times at home with one of the many devices that can be set up on a carpet or rug.

Practice of this nature now will greatly improve your play next season. Putting itself is an art that demands rather lengthy explanation. So, if you want to understand its principles write me, care of this paper, for my putting leaflet, and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope. I'll send it along.

The main idea in these shots is the low follow through, according to Bobby Jones. This means your club-head closely hugs the ground as it follows after the ball. That is the dominant idea, too, when Harry Johnston, U.S. amateur champ, puts as the sketch shows. Next—How you secure this follow through.

ESKS HAND CLUBS SOUND TROUNCING

Seattle Ends Losing Streak at Expense Of Orphans 6-2

Sound City Squad Nets First Win in Nine Starts—Kelly and H. Runge Score for Victoria—Osmundson and Sutherland Fined $25

SEATTLE, Jan. 10.—The Eskimos went on a scoring rampage to trounce the Victoria Cubs 6-2 and win their first Pacific Coast Hockey League game in their last nine starts here tonight.

Seattle counted two goals in the first period, three in the second and one in the last, while Victoria scored its two in the middle stanza.

The presence of Captain Jack Walker, in the Seattle line-up for the first time in six weeks, seemed to give the Eskimos new life and they tore into the Canadians with a vengeance. Walker injured his right knee six weeks ago and he had been off the ice since.

Reinikka opened the scoring and Brown gave Seattle its second point. The second period was a free-shooting stanza, with Seattle having the edge. Harris took a neat pass from Benson after 3:07 minutes of play, and best Robertson. Two minutes and thirty-four seconds later Victoria broke into the scoring column when Herman Runge took a wild shot from near centre which caught the Seattle goalie off guard.

JACK KELLY SCORES
The Eskimos countered with another goal 1:22 minutes later when Sutherland broke through the Cub defence. Nine seconds later Anderson cracked a long shot at the Victoria goal, which found its mark. Victoria ended the scoring after a rebound off Winkler's pads and flipped it into the net.

Seattle made the final score of the game in the last period when Reinikka beat Robertson, who had been left stranded by a Victoria five-man offence.

Sutherland, of Seattle, and Osmundson, of Victoria, were each penalized ten minutes and fined $25 for fighting. The two tangled in the last stanza to be sent to the bench and fined $10, but Referee Ito made it $25 each when they went at it again as they were leaving the ice.

WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPION MUCH TOO GOOD FOR OWENS—FLORES FIGHTS KING TUT TO DRAW

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Bruce Flowers, sharp-shooting negro lightweight, was roughed King Tut, Minneapolis challenger for the lightweight title, to a draw in their ten-round battle here tonight.

Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, defeated Jimmy Owens, of Oklahoma City, by a technical knockout in the second round of their ten-round fight. Owens was punched silly in the first round. He was no match for the titleholder. Owens weighed 148 and Fields 136.

HOW YA HAPPEN TO LICK HIM, KID? FIGHT DON'T MIX!"

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

They say that fighting and bragging never hit it off very well together, although Jack Sharkey has done very well and Art Shires, the colorful bad boy of the Chicago

White Sox, has achieved some nation-wide publicity he otherwise would have never received.

Ed Smith, the famous sport thority, once told me a story illustrating the theory that fighting and talking never mix.

"I was refereeing this particular fight," said Smith, "and the boy who

I thought didn't have a chance and was overmatched, kayped his fighting opponent in the third round. After the bout I asked him how it happened.

"I'll tell you," he answered. "I happened to ride down on the street car with the bird I fought tonight and he didn't know me. He kept telling me how he was going to slap down some punk who didn't have a chance with him and it made me sore. I always figured that fighting and a big mouth never went together and I proved it tonight."

Which proves exactly nothing in the cases of Mr. Sharkey and Mr.

Shires.

PORTLAND WINS FROM NANAIMO

Touring Basketball Register a

29-16 Victory Over Up-Islanders

Before Packed House

NANAIMO, Jan. 10.—Playing superior basketball and forcing their way through Nanaimo's defence with lightning speed and swift snap passes, the Portland touring basketball team defeated the Nanaimo seniors here tonight by 29-16, before a capacity crowd. Nanaimo converted the first basket, but that was the last time the local team had the lead, the score at half-time being 16 to 12 for the visitors.

In the opening of the second half the visitors opened three baskets in as many seconds and forced Nanaimo to take time out for being one minute of play. Watcher

Walford and Waugh, for Nanaimo, proved as speedy as any of the visitors but lacked ability at snap shots. The visitors, on the other hand, were quick and accurate in the opening of the second period almost put the game on ice.

In the girls' game the Nanaimo

Seniors defeated the Lady Smith

Felices, 25 to 8.

STEEL SHOWS STEADY GAIN

Further Increase Possible With Schedule Up to Meet Deliveries—Large Production for New Airplane

RAILROAD MERGER IS AGAIN DENIED

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—U. S. Steel, after starting current week with a slight gain, showed a steady gain until operations are now at better than sixty-five per cent. It is possible there will be a further increase in next few days, as schedules have been put up to meet deliveries. Unfilled tonnage increased 291,848 tons.

Bethlehem Steel has made rapid strides in increasing operations since holiday shut-down when company was credited with cutting around forty-five per cent. Current rate is 71 per cent, which is materially above any other large steel plant in the country. Expansion in this direction will come in next few days if current rate of business continues. Bethlehem fared well throughout last year, and maintained its operations at about capacity for a longer period than any of its competitors. Even in midsummer for a time company was running at better than 100 per cent. The shiver resulting from holiday loss, which amounted to more than twenty-five per cent, is considered highly significant.

Thursday's advance served to carry Dow Jones industrial averages to 249.68, a new high on December 26, and 261.48 on December 7. Further stimulation was given current upswing by overnight announcement of $72,000,000 decrease in brokers' loans.

Radio Motor of America reports 1929 retail sales of Victor Records, instruments, records and reproducing instruments amounted to $121,000,000, exceeding Victor's 1928 business by $22,000,000 and $16,000,000 Victor's previous record year.

Upper Lake iron ore shipments in 1929 totaled 65,204,000 tons, against 53,880,742 in 1928.

A trade merger of the Chicago Rock Island & Pacific and the St. Louis-San Francisco railroads is imminent was denied last night by Charles Hayden, chairman of the board of Rock Island. The rumor of a merger makes its appearance every little while.

Further breaking down of market portions, set up when the old Standard Oil Company was split up in 1911, is indicated by the new Standard Oil of New York to acquire the White Eagle Oil & Refining Company. To many observers in the oil industry it is regarded as certain that before long Standard of California may invade Eastern territory. A combination of the California Standard with Atlantic Refining or Sinclair has been suggested in this connection.

Tape Topics

Although nothing definite has been announced, the impression is going around in local financial circles that a deal between Mill City and Home Oils is nearing completion. Mill City yesterday started an upward movement, which was first on definite buying from one particular source and afterwards from general. The stock went from $1.55 to $2.40, closing at $2.40. During the time these purchases were in progress Home moved up from $8.20 to $8.50. All oils were stronger, and right on the close of the market, on very few sales, Merland jumped from 75¢ to 82¢.

Calmont opened at $1.16 and went up to $1.26. A.P.C., from an opening at $1.63, moved to $1.72. Sheritt Gordon, whose opening quotation was 65¢ bid, closed at 76¢ bid, touching 81¢ on the way. Hargal, opening at $1.08, advanced to $1.10, and Eastern from $1.02 to $1.05. E. & E. was fairly steady from $2.70 to $2.75. United, opening at 70¢-75¢, closed at 75¢-80¢, and Vanalta, which opened with offering at $1.12 to $1.20, touching $1.22.

The local oil market yesterday showed very general signs of recovery, being quite active, with chief sales being in the city yesterday. In the mines, however, there was not much activity. Big Missouri was soft, dropping from 65¢ to 61-1/2¢. Premier, presumably on account of the low price of silver, dropped from $1.59 to $1.56, afterwards coming back to $1.58 on odd lots, most of the sales being at $1.58. Grandview, from 141-1/2¢, touched 146¢ and closed at 146¢. Noble Five, which opened at 40¢, closed at 37¢, and Reeves MacDonald was steady at $1.25-$1.26.

Brigadier-General R. P. Clark, of R. P. Clark & Company, Limited, who was in the city yesterday, feels that while the recovery of the securities markets is slow and laborious, the fundamental industries of the country are progressing as well as ever, and that in many cases securities which are cheap at present prices will again reflect public confidence in the near future. These fundamental investment securities, he considers, present the most attractive investment opportunities to the public at this time.

With sales around the same figure (3,380,400) as on the previous day, New York yesterday showed a very brisk market up to noon, good advances being recorded. This condition was mostly due to the news that the unfilled steel tonnage had increased, coming out with a total of 291,848 tons, a figure better than any of the previous years. Steel tonnage and rails were up, but utilities were off .79.

The cheerful aspect which came to Wall Street to replace the gloom attributed to the steel. Other departments were given a steady giving the impression of readiness to advance further. Following the appearance of large buying orders in the last hour, the market was noted from substantial interests which ran steel up to 173-3/4, the last half-hour witnessed a further profit taking, embracing the whole list, the market finally closing with prices practically unchanged from those of Thursday's close.

Chief interest at Toronto was again in International Nickel, which

GETTING READY TO LEAD MARKET

MOVEMENTS IN AMERICAN CAN INDICATE STRONG SPONSORSHIP

Unfavorable Developments in Market for "Movie" Stocks Recovery Famous Players' Recovery

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Gross movements in American Can during the last few days indicated strong sponsorship and to all appearances Can is getting ready to lead the market in the next rally. No other stock is in as excellent a position to assume leadership as this.

Can showed a recovery of approximately 40 per cent of the maximum fluctuations. None of the other leaders, such as Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, etc., have a 40 per cent recovery to their credit.

A good-sized recovery in Famous Players is being delayed by the unfavorable developments in the market for the motion picture stocks.

The Fox situation is primarily responsible for the inactivity of Famous Players. Before long the market should do better than it is doing at present.

General Railway Signal is displaying all the earmarks of accumulation and in view of the highly speculative position of the railway equipment industry should experience no difficulty in showing sharp gains the moment the market as a whole is in a receptive mood.

The first report for 1929 will be issued shortly and will compare favorably with statements of the previous year, while the outlook for the new year is highly gratifying.

Dupont receded slightly under the profit-taking wave in the motor group and once more demonstrated that its holdings in General Motors is an important market factor for this stock. On the whole Dupont is grossly undervalued, and under a better market the stock should stage a substantial recovery.

MELLON'S FORESIGHT IS WELL JUSTIFIED

Early in Last Year Advice Was Given to Buy Good Bonds for Investment

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Early in 1929 Secretary Mellon said: "Now is the time to buy good bonds." His advice, which proved to be pertinent for several months, was professedly given on the basis of the fact that the market was overvalued and was being rapidly expanded.

Money rates were rising and bond prices, affording attractive yields, were falling. The market was overvalued and was being rapidly expanded.

MINES PAY BIG SUMS FOR POWER

May Develop Electricity From Oil-Burning Plant—Heavy Gets Power Cheaper

(Special to The Colonist, Copyright, 1930.)

TOBACCO, Jan. 10.—In view of the high power costs in the Kootenai Lake area there are those of the belief that a large oil-burning plant for the purpose of electric power development could be used to very great advantage. Lifetime contracts which the mines have with the power company, however, would have to be overcome.

Consumption by the mines located in the central section of the area and by the town is believed to be in the neighborhood of 18,000 horsepower per year. The year 1929, $50 per horsepower, expenditure for power in the main section is therefore around $900,000 annually.

Provision has been made for not less than 10,000 horsepower at the Teck Highways, despite the fact that less than half that amount is being consumed at present time. Should it be necessary in the future to draw the entire 10,000 horsepower annually, however, costs per year for power would reach about $900,000.

LAKE SHORE BIG CONSUMER
Lake Shore is nearing a production rate of 2,000 tons per day, and within the next three or four months will probably be consuming power at the rate of around 10,000 horsepower annually. Wright-Hargal's mine is expected to use more power as production is increased and is likely to draw power at a rate of around 10,000 horsepower annually. Wright-Hargal's mine is expected to use more power as production is increased and is likely to draw power at a rate of around 10,000 horsepower annually.

At any rate, that power can be provided for the Kootenai Lake Mines in comparatively small quantity and over 100 miles from the power source seems a reasonable proposition. The power should be provided in sections such as Kirkland Lake at a closely corresponding cost.
